Goldwater Sees Election Losses By Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater says he has a private poll showing that Watergate will cause a 10 per cent loss of votes for all Republican candidates this year.

He said that without a virtually magic change for the better, the loss will be enough to spell the wholesale defeats for GOP candidates for governor and the Senate and House.

"I want to tell you it's going to be goddamned tough for any Republican to get re-elected, including myself, and I look in pretty good shape," the Arizona Republican said in an interview.

Goldwater said that, as late as two months ago, his polls showed Watergate disclosures hurting Democrats as much as Republicans in a kind of general public disgust with all politicians.

"Now the poll indicates Watergate is going to hurt only Republicans," he said.

"We'll lose in the Senate, no question about it," Goldwater said. In the course of a pessimistic political analysis, he said the GOP is beginning its campaign for Senate seats by losing three, and perhaps four, "sure bets" through retirement and resignation.

Goldwater said he has seen no evidence to indicate that President Nixon should either be asked to resign or be forced to face the impeachment process.

But he said that, if Mr. Nixon were to step aside, Vice President Gerald R. Ford is the best possible person to succeed him.

Goldwater said the true dimensions of the problem facing Republican candidates are made up of the Watergate disclosures, Nixon's 27 per cent standing in national polls, and the chances that both the economy and the energy crisis could worsen.

"I can sense a strong feeling right here on the hill, and you're going to see it more and more as weeks go on, that many Republican members of Congress would like to run this year without Mr. Nixon," Goldwater said.

Goldwater said the poll was prepared by pollster Richard Wirtline of Anaheim, Calif.

The substantial Republican losses foreshadowed by the Wirtline poll will not be reversed "unless things take a decided turn for the better," Goldwater said.

Such a reversal would have to include "a very, very obvious and successful" solution to the Middle East problem and a quick and complete solution to the energy crisis, "so that we would never again have to depend on foreign sources of energy," he said.

"You're not going to get people voting for Republicans just because we don't have a recession or we don't increase unemployment," Goldwater said.

"These things have to be of such magic that people will forget Mr. Nixon's problems."

Tank Truck Destroyed By Flames

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — Columbiana County sheriff's deputies said an Ashland Oil Co. truck was destroyed in an early-morning fire near Calcutta north of here as trucker protests in the area continued.

Deputies said they were investigating the fire and said they had not determined whether it was strike-related.

Two rural fire departments had to be called to extinguish the blaze, first reported about 1 a.m.

The fire came several hours after the Ohio Highway Patrol reported discovering nails spread on emergency crossover lanes on Ohio 11, not far from where the tanker truck was destroyed.

Truckers, supporting the proposed nationwide shutdown Thursday in protest to high fuel rates and lack of adequate freight rate increases, have been gathering in the East Liverpool area and several area truckers began a stoppage at midnight Saturday.

The patrol said that no damage was caused by the nails and it was not determined who scattered them.

About two dozen truckers spent Sunday night along the East Liverpool portion of the highway, building fires and occasionally attempting to flag down passing truckers, observers said.

National Health Plan Disclosed By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has outlined to key congressmen a proposed national health care plan based principally on private insurance purchased by employers and employees.

It would be designed so that no individual or family after paying a share of the premium would be liable for more than $1,500 a year for the broad range of health services covered by the policy, even in the case of catastrophic illnesses.

Employers would be required to offer the coverage to employees. After a transition period employers would have to pay 75 per cent of the premium, which was estimated to average $625 for a family and $250 for an individual per year.

There would be a separate government program for low-income families, regardless of their work status, nonworking families and those with unusually high medical risks.

Medicare, the Social Security health plan for the aged, would continue with generally the existing cost to the beneficiaries, but with expanded benefits. Medicaid, the federal-state program for low-income persons, would largely be absorbed into the new government plan.

The draft proposal was outlined to the House Ways and Means Committee at a closed session Monday with Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger. Some details became available afterward. The plan still is subject to modification before its formal presentation to Congress, scheduled for next month.

One major unsettled area is the financing of the public segment of the plan. It was estimated to require $5.9 billion of added federal spending and about $1 billion of added state spending. However, much of the additional state spending would be offset by reduction in existing programs to which the states contribute.

Prospects for enactment of the plan this year are doubtful. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, where such legislation must originate, said that group might be able to begin work on national health programs if it finishes consideration of tax reform legislation by June.

The proposal also faces the rivalry of the all-government health plan being pushed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and others.

Energy Vote Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders say they are likely to move by Wednesday to force a vote on emergency energy legislation stalled by a controversy over excess profits earned by the oil industry.

A vote could come as early as today, Senate leaders said.

Word of plans to head off an anticipated filibuster by Republicans and senators from oil-producing states came as Senate investigators quizzed oil company executives on whether the energy crisis is real or contrived.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, on Monday asked representatives of the seven leading oil firms how shortages could exist when their own figures show fuel inventories running more than 5 per cent above last year's levels.

Members of the panel of oil executives pointed out that shortages also occurred last year and attributed this year's increased levels to warmer than normal weather and public conservation efforts. Harry Bridges, president of Shell, predicted "acute shortfalls in the next few months in all products."

Citing the record profits reported by many oil companies last year, Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., said "It would seem actually that the oil companies never had it so good."

Z.D. Bonner, president of Gulf Oil, responded that the "matter of profits is greatly misunderstood," arguing that his company needed a rate of return of 12 to 15 per cent in order to have adequate incentive to explore for new sources of oil.

Figures presented to a House subcommittee last week showed that profits of the top five oil companies were 48.6 per cent higher in the first nine months of 1973 than the same period in 1972.

The oil executives told Jackson's subcommittee that despite the recent high profit levels, oil industry profits were no higher than other industries measured over a five-year period. "You have years when you are up and years when you're down," Roy A.

Baze, senior vice president for Exxon said.

The question of oil industry profits is said to be the chief roadblock in the way of passage of the emergency energy bill that would give President Nixon authority to order gasoline rationing and enforce energy conservation measures that are now voluntary.

The Senate resumed debate on the bill Monday, but Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., indicated he intended to resume the filibuster that prevented passage of the measure before Congress adjourned last month.

AB-Positive Blood Needed

Dr. Melanie Kennedy, medical director of the Central Ohio Red Cross Blood Center has sent a special request to the local chapter for 10 additional AB-positive and 10 o-positive donors to give blood for open-heart surgeries at Children's and University Hospitals.

Since AB-positive is a rare type blood, efforts to recruit these donors have not been completely successful. Donors in these types are urged to call the Pickaway County Red Cross, 474-5736, to make an appointment to give blood on Thursday.

The quota for this visit and all others in 1974 has been set at 150 pints. Donors who make an appointment and keep it will never need spend more than one hour. With a steady flow of donors throughout the day, it will not be difficult to reach this quota.

Many county residents have received large quantities of blood during the past several weeks. Their friends and relatives may replace blood for them at any visit of the Bloodmobile. Donors must be at least seventeen years of age and may donate blood every eight weeks or five times a calendar year. Those who donated on November 19 will be accepted at Thursday's visit.

Hours for the Bloodmobile are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Community United Methodist Church.

Ohio Senate Panel Passes Amendment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Senate committee recommended today passage of the controversial Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution prohibiting discrimination on the basis of sex.

The vote in the Senate Financial Institutions, Insurance and Elections Committee was 6-2.

Sen. Paul R. Matia, R-25 Westlake, was absent.

Before the vote was taken, Sen. Robert O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, moved that action of the committee defeating ERA last year be rescinded. The move had been anticipated.

O'Shaughnessy and Sen. Anthony Novak, D-23 Cleveland, voted for the resolution. They had opposed it last year.

About 150 persons, most of them women, were in the committee room when the vote was taken. They applauded the action.

A motion to reconsider is not debatable.

A change of policy by the Ohio AFL-CIO, which last year opposed the proposal, apparently breathed new life into the measure the second time around.

The House-passed bill is expected to have little trouble on the Senate floor.

Ohio would be the 33rd state to ratify the amendment. Thirty eight states must approve it to make it law.

Surprised by the fuel crisis, states have scrambled to appoint energy officials who suddenly have to find out how real the crisis is and exactly how much gasoline and fuel oil they've got to cover spot shortages.

They are attempting this unprecedented task amid the confusion of changing federal regulations which some say are too little too late.

An Associated Press survey of 34 state energy officials showed that all feel their states are in an energy pinch, but most are unsure of the root causes. Many raised questions about oil industry culpability in the energy crisis, and many admitted they didn't really know how much fuel their states have.

"No provision for gathering oil information existed prior to Jan. 15 and we won't have figures until Feb. 1," said Harold Wills, Kansas fuel allocations officer.

How genuine are state gas and oil shortages?

"As far as Vermont is concerned, I know damn well there's a shortage," said Forrest Orr, head of the special state energy office. Like several other states, Vermont has little oil storage capacity.

"We have to rely on supplies from outside," he said.

While he said he did not know the extent of national fuel shortages and had no inside information to show that the oil industry may have contrived the situation, he added, "There is a certain degree of doubt in my mind that it is real."

The survey showed Orr's quandary is widespread. Some officials blamed the crisis on a real shortage of crude oil, but many had nagging doubts about oil industry involvement.

"If it was caused by increased consumption, lack of supply and refining capacity, then the oil companies are taking a bum rap. If it is part of a planned strategy, then they ought to be brought to the bar of public opinion," said Robert Davis, Oregon's top energy official.

How much fuel does each state have?

Fourteen surveyed states had no reliable figures on their fuel supply. Another 14, relying on oil industry figures or educated guesswork, said gasoline and fuel oil stocks were down over last year's figures. A few said they were holding their own.

All welcomed President Nixon's promise Saturday to seek legislation requiring constant accounting by oil companies of their supplies and reserves.

How about federal efforts so far in the crisis?

They were called confused, misplaced, unresponsive or "too little, too late" by 17 state officials. Thirteen gave Washington "adequate" ratings. Four didn't respond to the question.

State GOP Having Trouble Filling Ticket

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chief Justice C. William O'Neill will seek re-election this year instead of stepping down as previously announced, he said, Monday.

His announcement came in the form of a one-sentence news release only hours after his son, State Rep. Charles William O'Neill, R-28 Columbus, bowed out of the race for the GOP nomination for attorney general.

In other developments in an increasingly shaky attempt by Republicans to mount a state ticket for the May primary, Sen. Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, said he had decided not to try for the GOP nomination for state auditor.

The younger O'Neill and Gillmor had been part of a "consensus" ticket recommended last week by the Republican State Executive Committee. They were described as the best potential candidates for those offices by State GOP Chairman Kent B. McGough.

Although Gillmor and the younger O'Neill mentioned a lack of money as major reasons for their decisions, McGough said it was not the only reason. "Each of them made the decision independently and for different reasons," the chairman said.

The chief justice, without fanfare, issued a press release Monday afternoon that said simply: "I am going to be a candidate for re-election as chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court." His pronouncement several weeks ago that he was going to retire came just as succinctly. O'Neill stresses that as a jurist, he cannot campaign while sitting on the bench.

However, when he first decided to retire, the former governor and one-time speaker of the House was quoted as saying he would not run again because of a possible conflict of interest if his son were to be elected attorney. His son's decision removed that possibility.

Supreme Court Associate Justice

Paul W. Brown had been given the nod for chief justice based on the incumbent's decision not to run. It is not known if that party choice would stick, or even if Justice Brown would choose to take on the popular O'Neill in the GOP primary. Probably not, party spokesmen calculated.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, skipped over by the executive committee in his bid for lieutenant governor, said Monday he is keeping "all of my options open, including a race for governor or U.S. senator."

"In this crazy year . . . who knows, by next week, there may be no one left on the consensus ticket," the Cincinnati attorney said.

McGough said Republicans will continue to search for consensus

The GOP last Tuesday did not list consensus candidates for state treasurer or one regular Supreme Court seat—that now held by Justice Frank Celebrezze, a Cleveland Democrat. McGough said Sheldon Taft, a Columbus attorney, may run for the Celebrezze seat.

Dale Davis, Miami County treasurer, was mentioned by the state chairman as a possible candidate for treasurer.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained slightly higher today after pulling back from a strong early gain. Bluechips were flat.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up nearly 10 points in early trading, was unchanged at 854.63 at noon, while advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by about 7 to 4.

Ted Bukowski, analyst with E. F. Hutton & Co., said the early gains were a carrythrough of Monday's late-session strength. He said the market seemed to "have discounted most of the bad news of Monday."

Other brokers said news from Monday of duPont Walston's decision to sell assets and go out of business, a possible squeeze on oil-company profits, and the rise in gold prices was still unsettling investors.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index at noon was up .24 at 95.33, while the NYSE index was up .04 at 51.07.

Westfall Board Adopts Calendar For Next Year

The calendar for the 1974-75 school year was adopted at the regular monthly meeting of the Westfall Board of Education Monday night. The calendar was designed to coincide with the calendar adopted by the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School Board.

According to the new calendar, the first day for teachers will be Aug. 30 and the first day for students will be Sept. 3. June 5, will be the last day for students to attend school and June 6 will be the records and reports day for teachers. The calendar calls for 184 days for teachers and 180 days for students.

The board adopted a resolution naming the First National Bank of Williamsport as the depository for board funds for the two-year period of Jan. 1, 1974 through Dec. 31, 1975.

Approval was granted to the officers of the 1973 graduating class to have the remaining class funds of $77.52 donated to the Marion Radcliff Memorial Fund in care of the American Cancer Society.

The resignation of Mrs. Helen Allen as secretary at the Darby School was accepted by the board. Mrs. Allen has been on leave of absence for the first semester of this year. Mrs. Joyce Kern who has been the secretary of Darby School in Mrs. Allen's absence was employed to continue in the position for the remainder of the school year.

Also accepted was the resignation of Mrs. Pamela Norz as first grade teacher at Darby School. Her resignation will be effective Jan. 25. She will be moving to Florida where her husband recently accepted a position.

Mrs. Glenda Anderson was employed by the board to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. Norz. Mrs. Anderson holds a bachelor of science degree from Ohio University and has three years' teaching experience in the primary school.

Further employment as approved by the board included Mrs. Marilyn Lemaster as regular bus driver and James Lybarger as substitute bus driver.

With the completion of the employment made at this meeting, the district still needs a Title I aide at the Monroe School. This position is expected to be filled within the next two weeks.

CIRCLEVILLE

mitted by the Pickaway County Board was approved and accepted.

Superintendent Gordon Massie reported to the board That Professor Perry Borchers of Ohio State University is making a study of the acoustic conditions in the high school gymnasium. The acoustic units which were installed at the time of the construction of the building are no longer manufactured. At this time it appears a different type unit will have to be installed.

Professor Borchers is to contact the architect and the construction company and report back to the board with the recommendations they make.

A resolution to proceed with the bond issue for the middle school was passed passed by board action. The issue will be on the May primary ballot. The board also voted to employ the firm of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey from Cleveland as legal counsel.

Final action of the board was the resolution to request an advance draw on local taxes of $28,000.

In addition to the local superintendent Massie, all board members were present. Members are Jeanne Lett, president; Cooke Metzger; David Long; James Dean and Bruce Stevenson Jr.

Former AEC Chairman Strauss Dies

CULPEPER, Va. (AP) — Funeral services for Rear Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and interim secretary of commerce, will be Thursday in New York.

Strauss, 77, died at his farm here Monday after returning from Washington where he had undergone treatment for cancer.

Strauss was a native of Charleston, W. Va., and during his life served as an adviser to five presidents. He helped spur development of the hydrogen bomb, and was a well-known financier.

He served as a private secretary to Herbert Hoover in 1919 and later became a partner in a New York banking firm.

In 1941 he was ordered to active duty in the Navy as a lieutenant commander and soon rose to the position of special assistant to the vice chief of naval operations. In 1946 he was named to the Atomic Energy Commission.

In 1958 President Eisenhower gave Strauss the interim appointment as commerce secretary, but his nomination to the post full-time was defeated in Congress.

Sheep Output Declines Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's sheep industry, on a downhill trend for many years, showed another decline in 1973, according to the Agriculture Department.

As of Jan. 1, a USDA inventory shows, there were 2,660,000 sheep and lambs being fed for the slaughter market in 26 major producing states. That was down seven per cent from a year earlier.

Wool production from U.S. sheep, an indication of the size of the animal inventory, has declined annually for 13 years and is expected to drop again in 1974.

The department later this month will issue an annual inventory of all sheep and lambs on farms.

Mid-Winter Concert Scheduled

The Teays Valley music department will present the annual mid-winter dinner concert of Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Dinner will be served in the cafeteria from 11:30 a.m. until concert time.

Tickets for the meal may be purchased in advance from any band member or at the door. The concert is free to the public and those wishing to attend the musical portion of the program need not attend the dinner to do so.

The program will be under the direction of Drexel Poling, Fred E. Brobst and Darlene Freeman. Poling is director of the high school stage band and the seventh and eighth grade bands; Brobst, the wind ensemble and the concert band; Freeman, the varsity girls' ensemble.

For those who finish eating before the formal concert begins the stage band will perform. Interlude music will be used during changes in the program agenda.

Musical features of the seventh grade band will include "Big Yellow Buss", "The Grenadiers" and "Mexican Sundae".

Eighth Graders will contribute to the musical fiesta with "La Pericole", "Holiday in Spain", "A Little Handel Suite" and "Julida Polka".

The concert will continue with "The Billboard" march, "Suite from 'Dido and Aeneas'", "Choral and Shaker Dance," "Kansa" (suite for band) and a march entitled "Americans We" by the Wind Ensemble.

Concert bandmen will conclude the program with "Vaquero", "Chelsea Suite" and "Aria and Fugue" by Handel. Interlude music will include "Bourree" by J. S. Bach, performed by the woodwind choir; "Trumpet Tune and Air" done by the Brass choir; "Rock-A My Soul" sung by the varsity girls' ensemble.

Parts Thieves Caught In Act By Truck Owner

A Circleville resident Monday caught two men in the act of stripping parts from his truck and held them at gunpoint until police arrived.

Donald G. Smith, 121 1/2 S. Scioto St., at 8:20 p.m. yesterday discovered William Kuhn, 28, Amanda, and Paul Kuhn, 20, Route 3, removing the chrome cab lights from his truck.

He confronted them with a 12 gauge shotgun and notified the Circleville Police Department. Patrolman Hugh Black placed the two under arrest. Larceny charges are to be filed against the two men today in Circleville Municipal Court.

No City Pacts For Ambulances

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cities and towns must contract for ambulance service through a board of county commissioners, Deputy Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said today.

Ferguson said that the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices ruled that municipal officials do not have the power to contract for private ambulance services under the Ohio Revised Code.

"The board of county commissioners must contract for the service, supervise it and set terms of payment," he said.

Phone Pioneer Malone Dies

WATERVILLE, Ohio (AP)— Lester J. Malone, Director of the statewide operations for the Ohio Chapter of Telephone Pioneers of America from 1948 to 1960, died Sunday. He was 78.

Malone, joined Ohio Bell as a wire chief at Toledo in 1921 and held a number of plant department positions at Toledo and Sandusky until 1947 when he was appointed to the staff of the personnel department at Ohio Bell's corporate headquarters in Cleveland. He retired in 1960.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market remained slightly higher today after pulling back from a strong early gain. Bluechips were flat.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up nearly 10 points in early trading, was unchanged at 854.63 at noon, while advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by about 7 to 4.

Ted Bukowski, analyst with E. F. Hutton & Co., said the early gains were a carrythrough of Monday's late-session strength. He said the market seemed to "have discounted most of the bad news of Monday."

Other brokers said news from Monday of duPont Walston's decision to sell assets and go out of business, a possible squeeze on oil-company profits, and the rise in gold prices was still unsettling investors.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index at noon was up .24 at 95.33, while the NYSE index was up .04 at 51.07.

Westfall Board Adopts Calendar For Next Year

The calendar for the 1974-75 school year was adopted at the regular monthly meeting of the Westfall Board of Education Monday night. The calendar was designed to coincide with the calendar adopted by the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School Board.

According to the new calendar, the first day for teachers will be Aug. 30 and the first day for students will be Sept. 3. June 5, will be the last day for students to attend school and June 6 will be the records and reports day for teachers. The calendar calls for 184 days for teachers and 180 days for students.

The board adopted a resolution naming the First National Bank of Williamsport as the depository for board funds for the two-year period of Jan. 1, 1974 through Dec. 31, 1975.

Approval was granted to the officers of the 1973 graduating class to have the remaining class funds of $77.52 donated to the Marion Radcliff Memorial Fund in care of the American Cancer Society.

The resignation of Mrs. Helen Allen as secretary at the Darby School was accepted by the board. Mrs. Allen has been on leave of absence for the first semester of this year. Mrs. Joyce Kern who has been the secretary of Darby School in Mrs. Allen's absence was employed to continue in the position for the remainder of the school year.

Also accepted was the resignation of Mrs. Pamela Norz as first grade teacher at Darby School. Her resignation will be effective Jan. 25. She will be moving to Florida where her husband recently accepted a position.

Mrs. Glenda Anderson was employed by the board to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. Norz. Mrs. Anderson holds a bachelor of science degree from Ohio University and has three years' teaching experience in the primary school.

Further employment as approved by the board included Mrs. Marilyn Lemaster as regular bus driver and James Lybarger as substitute bus driver.

With the completion of the employment made at this meeting, the district still needs a Title I aide at the Monroe School. This position is expected to be filled within the next two weeks.

Superintendent Gordon Massie reported to the board that Professor Perry Borchers of Ohio State University is making a study of the acoustic conditions in the high school gymnasium. The acoustic units which were installed at the time of the construction of the building are no longer manufactured. At this time it appears a different type unit will have to be installed.

Professor Borchers is to contact the architect and the construction company and report back to the board with the recommendations they make.

A resolution to proceed with the bond issue for the middle school was passed by board action. The issue will be on the May primary ballot. The board also voted to employ the firm of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey from Cleveland as legal counsel.

Final action of the board was the resolution to request an advance draw on local taxes of $28,000.

In addition to the local superintendent Massie, all board members were present. Members are Jeanne Lett, president; Cooke Metzger; David Long; James Dean and Bruce Stevenson Jr.

Former AEC Chairman Strauss Dies

CULPEPER, Va. (AP) — Funeral services for Rear Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and interim secretary of commerce, will be Thursday in New York.

Strauss, 77, died at his farm here Monday after returning from Washington where he had undergone treatment for cancer.

Strauss was a native of Charleston, W. Va., and during his life served as an adviser to five presidents. He helped spur development of the hydrogen bomb, and was a well-known financier.

He served as a private secretary to Herbert Hoover in 1919 and later became a partner in a New York banking firm.

In 1941 he was ordered to active duty in the Navy as a lieutenant commander and soon rose to the position of special assistant to the vice chief of naval operations. In 1946 he was named to the Atomic Energy Commission.

In 1958 President Eisenhower gave Strauss the interim appointment as commerce secretary, but his nomination to the post full-time was defeated in Congress.

Sheep Output Declines Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's sheep industry, on a downhill trend for many years, showed another decline in 1973, according to the Agriculture Department.

As of Jan. 1, a USDA inventory shows, there were 2,660,000 sheep and lambs being fed for the slaughter market in 26 major producing states. That was down seven per cent from a year earlier.

Wool production from U.S. sheep, an indication of the size of the animal inventory, has declined annually for 13 years and is expected to drop again in 1974.

The department later this month will issue an annual inventory of all sheep and lambs on farms.

Mid-Winter Concert Scheduled

The Teays Valley music department will present the annual mid-winter dinner concert of Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Dinner will be served in the cafeteria from 11:30 a.m. until concert time.

Tickets for the meal may be purchased in advance from any band member or at the door. The concert is free to the public and those wishing to attend the musical portion of the program need not attend the dinner to do so.

The program will be under the direction of Drexel Poling, Fred E. Brobst and Darlene Freeman. Poling is director of the high school stage band and the seventh and eighth grade bands; Brobst, the wind ensemble and the concert band; Freeman, the varsity girls' ensemble.

For those who finish eating before the formal concert begins the stage band will perform. Interlude music will be used during changes in the program agenda.

Musical features of the seventh grade band will include "Big Yellow Buss", "The Grenadiers" and "Mexican Sundaes".

Eighth Graders will contribute to the musical fiesta with "La Pericote", "Holiday in Spain", "A Little Handel Suite" and "Julida Polka".

The concert will continue with "The Billboard" march, "Suite from 'Dido and Aeneas'", "Choral and Shaker Dance," "Kansa" (suite for band) and a march entitled "Americans We" by the Wind Ensemble.

Concert bandmen will conclude the program with "Vaquero", "Chelsea Suite" and "Aria and Fugue" by Handel. Interlude music will include "Bourree" by J. S. Bach, performed by the woodwind choir; "Trumpet Tune and Air" done by the Brass choir; "Rock-A My Soul" sung by the varsity girls' ensemble.

Parts Thieves Caught In Act By Truck Owner

A Circleville resident Monday caught two men in the act of stripping parts from his truck and held them at gunpoint until police arrived.

Donald G. Smith, 121½ S. Scioto St., at 8:20 p.m. yesterday discovered William Kuhn, 28, Amanda, and Paul Kuhn, 20, Route 3, removing the chrome cab lights from his truck.

He confronted them with a 12 gauge shotgun and notified the Circleville Police Department. Patrolman Hugh Black placed the two under arrest. Larceny charges are to be filed against the two men today in Circleville Municipal Court.

No City Pacts For Ambulances

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cities and towns must contract for ambulance service through a board of county commissioners, Deputy Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said today.

Ferguson said that the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices ruled that municipal officials do not have the power to contract for private ambulance services under the Ohio Revised Code.

"The board of county commissioners must contract for the service, supervise it and set terms of payment," he said.

Rule Out Foul Play In Death Of Girl, 8

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Authorities have ruled out foul play in the death of a retarded, eight-year-old girl found in a vacant downtown building Monday, but said further tests would be necessary to pinpoint cause of death.

The body of Jennie Teresa Whyte of Cincinnati was found on the second story of the building by six teenagers. She had been missing nine days, police said.

An autopsy revealed she had died 24-48 hours earlier. Her body was badly dehydrated and she had not eaten in days, police said.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

The House Speaker, A. G. Lancione, recently appointed a nine member select committee on energy to deal specifically with legislation concerning all aspects of the energy crisis. The select committee will receive all energy related bills and resolutions introduced in the House and those passed by the Senate.

The committee, after concluding its consideration of legislation, will then issue reports. The reports will then be referred to an appropriate standing committee of the House for final committee action. It is the intent and purpose of the committee to not only investigate solutions to some of the short-range energy problems but to look at long-range solutions to a crisis that could be with us possibly for a number of years.

The Senate Financial Institutions, Insurance and Elections Committee began hearings this week on several bills including campaign financing and the other election bills referred to that committee. The month of February has been reserved for hearings on the no-fault automobile insurance legislation which passed the House during the last session.

A bill whose purpose is to celebrate Veterans Day on the anniversary of that date in 1918 or November 11 on which the armistice ending the hostilities of World War I began, passed the House this past week and now goes to the Senate for their consideration. The bill would change the holiday from the fourth Monday in October to November 11.

Certain trailers weighing one ton or more will be required to be equipt with sway control devices approved by the Director of Highway Safety, if a bill that passed the House, this past week, gets similar consideration in the Senate and is signed by the Governor. The purpose of the bill is to reduce the possibility of accidents.

A constitutional amendment, passed by the voters of the State of Ohio in last November's election, was taken under consideration this past week in the Ohio House; when approval was given to the removal of the $3,000 limitation on the total amount of personal income that may be deducted for personal exemptions from state income tax returns.

The $3,000 maximum would be removed as of last December 1, 1973, there by effective for tax years or portions, beginning with January 1, 1974.

Last Tuesday evening Governor Gilligan presented his "State of the State" address to the Joint Session of the 110th General Assembly. Among the Governor's legislative proposals were: Enactment of a tough campaign spending law; Ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment; and, Steps to deal with energy problems.

The Governor enumerated the many improvements and changes made in the operations of the State of Ohio during the past year and assured the legislature of his complete cooperation during the remainder of the session.

A bill exempting Ohio from the Daylight Savings Time, mandated by the federal government, will be introduced in the House next week with some 35 members as co-sponsors of this piece of legislation. In order for the bill to be effective it would require two-thirds vote of both Houses under the emergency clause section, otherwise it would not take effect for 90 days from the date of the signature by the Governor.

Ohio is into another clammy day. Early morning lows ranged from 33 in Toledo to 45 in Marietta, with highs expected to reach the 40s or low 50s this afternoon.

Showers and drizzle were expected to continue today and tonight under the influence of a low pressure center moving in from the west. Lows tonight were expected to be in the 30s under the rainy skies.

Cooler air was to move in behind the low as it passes on to the northeast Wednesday and the rain was to change to snow or flurries in northeastern Ohio.

Tobacco Prices Still Dropping

RIPLEY, Ohio (AP) — Burley tobacco prices continued to plunge as the market opened its final week Monday.

The average dropped to $85.81 per hundredweight. A total of 103,776 pounds sold for $89,045.

Officials said the market would close after Thursday's sales.

Metzenbaum Takes Seat In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cleveland Howard Metzenbaum became a full-fledged senator Monday after the Senate rejected proposals for an investigation of his tax problems.

The Ohio Democrat was sworn in to fill the unexpired term of former Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, who resigned to become U.S. attorney general.

The Senate voted 53 to 23 against a proposed Rules Committee investigation into claims Metzenbaum owed the government $118,000 in back taxes.

Ohio Gov. John Gilligan appointed the 56-year-old former state senator to the post after Saxbe resigned.

Senate Majority leader Mike Mansfield had proposed Metzenbaum be seated pending a two-week investigation into an Internal Revenue Service claim the new senator owed the taxes for the years 1967 and 1968. Mansfield offered his resolution to head off a longer probe asked for by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb.

Both proposals were killed when the Senate voted on a motion made by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. D-N.C., who contended the Senate had no legal basis to deny Metzenbaum a seat.

Rotary Club Seeks Foundation Candidates

Robert W. Wood, president of the Rotary Club of Circleville, has announced that the club is seeking young men and women in the Circleville area as candidates for Rotary Foundation educational awards for study abroad in 1975 and 1976.

Each award includes round-trip transportation, educational and living expenses for one academic year, and funds for intensive language training, if necessary.

In 1947, the Foundation started its programs of sending young adults abroad for study, and since that time, the Foundation has awarded more than US $17.5 million for its various programs, and more than 6,000 young men and women have gone to countries other than their own for a year of study. As a non-profit organization, The Rotary Foundation is supported by voluntary contributions from Rotarians, Rotary Clubs, and friends of Rotary in 150 different countries.

Past Rotary Foundation awards in the Circleville area have been granted to young adults of Amanda, Lancaster, Newark and Delaware.

Further information about these awards is available from Dr. Robert G. Smith, 918 Circle Drive, Circleville. The deadline for completed applications is March 1.

The $3,000 maximum would be removed as of last December 1, 1973, there by effective for tax years or portions, beginning with January 1, 1974.

Last Tuesday evening Governor Gilligan presented his "State of the State" address to the Joint Session of the 110th General Assembly. Among the Governor's legislative proposals were: Enactment of a tough campaign spending law; Ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment; and, Steps to deal with energy problems.

The Governor enumerated the many improvements and changes made in the operations of the State of Ohio during the past year and assured the legislature of his complete cooperation during the remainder of the session.

A bill exempting Ohio from the Daylight Savings Time, mandated by the federal government, will be introduced in the House next week with some 35 members as co-sponsors of this piece of legislation. In order for the bill to be effective it would require two-thirds vote of both Houses under the emergency clause section, otherwise it would not take effect for 90 days from the date of the signature by the Governor.

Ohio is into another clammy day. Early morning lows ranged from 33 in Toledo to 45 in Marietta, with highs expected to reach the 40s or low 50s this afternoon.

Showers and drizzle were expected to continue today and tonight under the influence of a low pressure center moving in from the west. Lows tonight were expected to be in the 30s under the rainy skies.

Cooler air was to move in behind the low as it passes on to the northeast Wednesday and the rain was to change to snow or flurries in northeastern Ohio.

Tobacco Prices Still Dropping

RIPLEY, Ohio (AP) — Burley tobacco prices continued to plunge as the market opened its final week Monday.

The average dropped to $85.81 per hundredweight. A total of 103,776 pounds sold for $89,045.

Officials said the market would close after Thursday's sales.

Metzenbaum Takes Seat In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clevelanded Howard Metzenbaum became a full-fledged senator Monday after the Senate rejected proposals for an investigation of his tax problems.

The Ohio Democrat was sworn in to fill the unexpired term of former Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, who resigned to become U.S. attorney general.

The Senate voted 53 to 23 against a proposed Rules Committee investigation into claims Metzenbaum owed the government $118,000 in back taxes.

Ohio Gov. John Gilligan appointed the 56-year-old former state senator to the post after Saxbe resigned.

Senate Majority leader Mike Mansfield had proposed Metzenbaum be seated pending a two-week investigation into an Internal Revenue Service claim the new senator owed the taxes for the years 1967 and 1968. Mansfield offered his resolution to head off a longer probe asked for by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb.

Both proposals were killed when the Senate voted on a motion made by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. D-N.C., who contended the Senate had no legal basis to deny Metzenbaum a seat.

Rotary Club Seeks Foundation Candidates

Robert W. Wood, president of the Rotary Club of Circleville, has announced that the club is seeking young men and women in the Circleville area as candidates for Rotary Foundation educational awards for study abroad in 1975 and 1976.

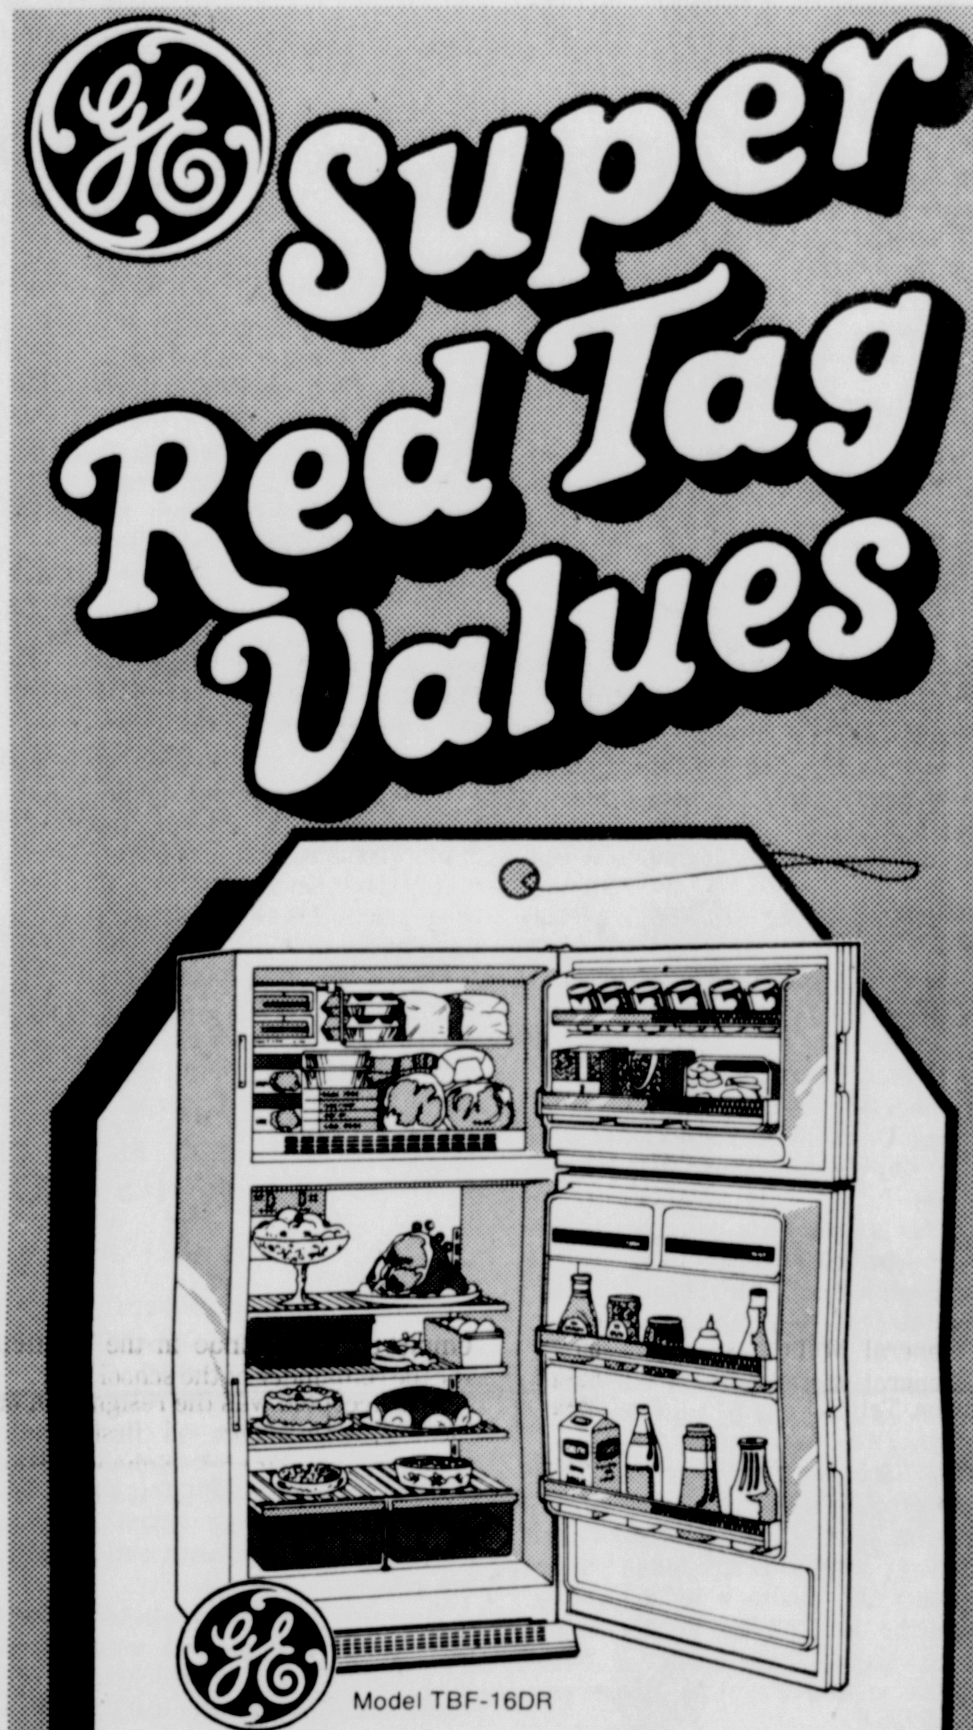

The Foundation offers four types of educational awards: Graduate Fellowships, for those who have received a bachelor's degree or equivalent and are between the ages of 20 and 28; Undergraduate Scholarships, for those with a minimum of two years of university level work and are the ages of 18 to 24; Technical Training Awards for those with a secondary education and at least two years' working experience and are the ages of 21 to 35; Awards to Teachers of the Handicapped, for those who have been engaged as fulltime teachers of the mentally, physically or educationally handicapped for at least two years at the time of application and are the ages of 25 to 50.

Each award includes round-trip transportation, educational and living expenses for one academic year, and funds for intensive language training, if necessary.

In 1947, the Foundation started its programs of sending young adults abroad for study, and since that time, the Foundation has awarded more than US $17.5 million for its various programs, and more than 6,000 young men and women have gone to countries other than their own for a year of study. As a non-profit organization, The Rotary Foundation is supported by voluntary contributions from Rotarians, Rotary Clubs, and friends of Rotary in 150 different countries.

Past Rotary Foundation awards in the Circleville area have been granted to young adults of Amanda, Lancaster, Newark and Delaware.

Further information about these awards is available from Dr. Robert G. Smith, 918 Circle Drive, Circleville. The deadline for completed applications is March 1.

Nuclear Energy Growth

Long before the petroleum crunch was a common table topic, nuclear energy had strong proponents who saw it as the inevitable energy generating medium of the future. Predictions were made a decade ago that nuclear energy not only would come of age in the 1970s, but the capital cost of producing one kilowatt would be a relatively competitive $120.

Those estimates did not entirely meet their goals. The capital cost has grown to $550 per kilowatt and the time required to build a nuclear generating plant has doubled to eight years. About four per cent of the nation's electricity now is generated by nuclear power plants.

A heavy increase in capability, however, is underway. The Atomic Energy Commission reports that 29 nuclear plants now are operational, 59 more are under construction and 77 additional facilities are in planning stages. The current capability of 14,000 megawatts is expected to expand to 1.2 million megawatts by the year 2000. A megawatt is one million watts.

The future continues to look bright for nuclear energy, despite construction problems, environmental questions and funding delays which have held back more rapid development.

With the costs of other forms of energy escalating, even the economics of nuclear energy is falling into position.

Her Indomitable Self

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—A bit more than 20 years ago, sculptress Claire Low suffered an attack of polio that left her without the use of her legs. But she has continued her work, raised two children, traveled wide and far in this land and abroad, and taken a leading role in the nurturing of culture in Westchester County, N.Y.

Thanks mostly to her own gumption, and an unusual assist from her physicist husband Frank.

Frank Low is a man of many inventive devices, some of them based primarily on getting his wife and (now) other people out of bed and up from their chairs and off their crutches, and back into the mobile world.

One of the simplest and most effective of his brain-children is a lightweight portable seat, shaped to the owner's buttocks, which helps the halt and the lame slide out of bed into wheelchairs, also in and out of cars, airplanes, buses, theater seats and privies. Dr. Low's godsend to the limp of our day and age, once intended only to help his wife, is produced by the thousands through a company named Contourpedic, at Ridgefield, N.J. It has been tested at Dr. Howard Rusk's Institute for Rehabilitation Medicine at the New York University-Bellevue medical center, and at Goldwater Memorial Hospital in New York.

Gov. George Wallace, deprived of his locomotion by a nut's bullet into his spine, is back on the campaign trail partly, at least, through his use of his Contourpedic disk. Who knows?—it might be his vehicle to the White House, as was an earlier national depression and Franklin Roosevelt's wheelchair.

But the prime beneficiary of Frank Low's good mind has been his sculptress wife. He dispensed with her hospital bed in their bedroom by devising a unique trapeze to give her much more mobility. When their second child was still an infant, Dr. Low rigged a pulley device over the baby's play pen that enabled the little girl's mother to lift the child from the pen into her high chair and back again. Mrs. Low, who had been an excellent horsewoman before polio, now rides again, like Destry—thanks to a safety belt her husband found a way of melding with a western saddle.

"Air Force Magazine," published by the Air Force Association, Washington, D.C., has been practically alone in the matter of reminding Congress and the nation that there are still 1,300 Americans listed as missing in action a full year after Hanoi promised to cooperate with the search for them or their remains.

The search is stalemated, writes assistant managing editor William P. Schlitz in the current issue. It is a galling truth to bear for the families of the men, who continue to hope for either a miracle or, at least, for proof that their men are dead. The frustration of the search and identification program is appalling:

—North Vietnam now says it will live up to that phase of the Kissinger-Le Duc Tho accords only if South Vietnam releases "civilian prisoners," many of them believed to be Viet Cong.

—Expert, dedicated teams from our Joint Casualty Recovery Center, based in Thailand, have been shown "cemeteries" by hostile forces in South Vietnam. But they have all been empty, and there is evidence that they were places where Viet Cong weapons were cached.

—Each search team which gets wind of an old plane crash site takes along a demolition expert, to defuse not only such ordnance that might be left in the wreckage but booby traps planted by a cynical foe.

—Several unarmed helicopters, bent on locating the living or dead, have been shot down.

—Fifty-three MIA (missing in action) family members flew to Vientiane, capital of Laos, to plead for information, but found it a long barren voyage. They got no information and, on top of that, the touching story of their venture was wiped out of sight by the war in the Middle East, banishment of Spiro Agnew, firing of Archibald Cox, resignation of Attorney General Elliot Richardson, and other commanding hot news.

—Contributions to the League of Families, which assumed the MIA burden after playing an important role in the happy return of the POWs, have fallen off so badly that it may have to shut down in April or May, thus expanding the purgatorial term indefinitely for, among others, the mates of MIAs who don't know whether they are wives or widows.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

School board members face a multitude of complex problems. Their decisions will affect every citizen in the community. The board needs the support of the community in order to most effectively carry out its responsibilities. Getting this support is a complex challenge which involves extremely good communications with the public.

The term "communications" rather than public relations is emphasized here because the school board's involvement in communications is a much broader function than public relations.

In the booklet "Basic Board-manship" by Vance Bell, a publication of The Ohio School Boards Association, the author states that "a common misconception is that school public relations is nothing more than advertising, sales promotion, and press agency designed to 'sell' public education to the public. This is a little silly since the public schools already are owned by the public." The author goes on to say that "many attempts are made to get the public to accept the management of a school system strictly on the basis of blind faith and to produce more funds on a no-questions-asked basis."

The booklet further states that "the sounder basis for public relations develops from a continuing, unhampered two-way communication, a flow of thoughts, information and ideas between the public and the school management group and staff of the school system."

My campaign centered on the importance of communication. A school board, however, cannot have a good communications program simply by saying it is important. It will have to be a year-around job and many ways will have to be worked out to keep the public informed. We'll need feedback of community opinion. This could be done by a question and answer column on the radio or in the newspaper. We'll need letters and telephone calls stating your concerns and criticisms.

We'll need your support by attending the open board meetings on the fourth Thursday of every month at 7:30 at the Junior High School. Everyone is welcome to come to observe; if someone wishes to speak to the board about a matter it is suggested that they call the clerk, Mary Ellen Rader at 474-5090, and have their name put on the agenda. This is done in the interest of time.

The members of the Circleville Board of Education are: Dale Delong, president; Forrest Brown; Thomas Elsea; Dr. Robert Liggett; and Mrs. D. Richard Wylie. Get to know these people and support them in their sincere involvement in better education.

Being elected to the Circleville Board of Education is a great honor and it is also an overwhelming responsibility. I want to represent all of the people that voted for me as best I can. We all want good schools. Let's work together to make our good schools even better!

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can antihistamine drugs be taken indefinitely without causing any harm?

I have a year-round allergy and I have been taking these pills for many years.

Miss J.N., Wis.

Dear Miss N.:

Let me first explain that histamine is a substance produced in many tissues and cells in the body. It plays an important role in body growth, secretions in the stomach, and in the blood circulation.

Excess amounts of histamine are found in the blood of people with asthma, hives, hay fever, and other allergic conditions.

Antihistamine drugs were created to counteract the excess histamines in allergic people, and thus reduce their annoying symptoms.

These antihistamine drugs are readily excreted from the body in the urine. It is for this very reason that sustained doses are effective.

Nevertheless, I do believe that a re-evaluation of your allergic profile should be done. Perhaps the exact offender that produces your year-round allergy may be found and removed. Then you would be spared the need for such constant medication.

Does nicotinic acid have any relation to the nicotine in cigarettes?

Mr. H.G., N.Y.

Dear Mr. G.:

No, there is no relationship. Nicotinic acid, or niacin, is a valuable vitamin found mostly in liver, meat, fish, yeast, and whole grain cereals.

Its complete absence in the diet is responsible for the disease pellagra. The nicotine in cigarettes is a poisonous substance found in all parts of the tobacco plant.

I saw a report of acid in my urine. Does this have any special meaning?

Mr. E.S., Va.

Dear Mr. S.:

The acid and alkaline content of the urine may vary from day to day, even with people in excellent health.

Changes in diet and some medicines can readily alter the acidity of the urine.

Claim Secret Data Went To Military

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A former document coordinator says top-secret messages intended for high United States civilian officials in Saigon were retransmitted to military officials.

"These messages were coming from the secretary of state; they were coming from the White House; they were coming from the CIA," Steven M. Davis said in an interview Sunday.

"A lot of them specifically had to do with (Ambassador Ellsworth) Bunker. None of this information was supposed to go anywhere else. It was supposed to be kept in these types of channels," he added.

"But later, they were being retransmitted by military personnel. How they got them, I don't know. They'd come in and retransmit them back to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, or to the Navy commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet in Hawaii, or to Thailand where the Army set up its new headquarters."

Davis, 23, said he was a civilian top-secret document coordinator at the ITT communications center in Saigon from January to June 1973. He said he worked for Federal Electronic Corp., an ITT subsidiary.

He said the messages passed to the Joint Chiefs of Staff ranged from top secret to unclassified and included information on the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT), Vietnam negotiations, State Department business and CIA investigations.

Bag Supply Bids Hurt By Shortage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state official wants to forego the procedure of taking bids on supplying bags to Ohio liquor stores because of the paper shortage.

Joseph Sommer, director of the Ohio Department of Administrative Services, said 68 firms were invited to bid last month on a contract beginning Feb. 1. But he said 18 responded with no bids.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A former document coordinator says top-secret messages intended for high United States civilian officials in Saigon were retransmitted to military officials.

"These messages were coming from the secretary of state; they were coming from the White House; they were coming from the CIA," Steven M. Davis said in an interview Sunday.

"A lot of them specifically had to do with (Ambassador Ellsworth) Bunker. None of this information was supposed to go anywhere else. It was supposed to be kept in these types of channels," he added.

"But later, they were being retransmitted by military personnel. How they got them, I don't know. They'd come in and retransmit them back to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, or to the Navy commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet in Hawaii, or to Thailand where the Army set up its new headquarters."

Davis, 23, said he was a civilian top-secret document coordinator at the ITT communications center in Saigon from January to June 1973. He said he worked for Federal Electronic Corp., an ITT subsidiary.

He said the messages passed to the Joint Chiefs of Staff ranged from top secret to unclassified and included information on the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT), Vietnam negotiations, State Department business and CIA investigations.

Bag Supply Bids Hurt By Shortage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state official wants to forego the procedure of taking bids on supplying bags to Ohio liquor stores because of the paper shortage.

Joseph Sommer, director of the Ohio Department of Administrative Services, said 68 firms were invited to bid last month on a contract beginning Feb. 1. But he said 18 responded with no bids.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can antihistamine drugs be taken indefinitely without causing any harm?

I have a year-round allergy and I have been taking these pills for many years.

Miss J.N., Wis.

Dear Miss N.: Let me first explain that histamine is a substance produced in many tissues and cells in the body. It plays an important role in body growth, secretions in the stomach, and in the blood circulation.

Excess amounts of histamine are found in the blood of people with asthma, hives, hay fever, and other allergic conditions.

Antihistamine drugs were created to counteract the excess histamines in allergic people, and thus reduce their annoying symptoms.

These antihistamine drugs are readily excreted from the body in the urine. It is for this very reason that sustained doses are effective.

Nevertheless, I do believe that a re-evaluation of your allergic profile should be done. Perhaps the exact offender that produces your year-round allergy may be found and removed. Then you would be spared the need for such constant medication.

Does nicotine acid have any relation to the nicotine in cigarettes?

Mr. H.G., N.Y.

Dear Mr. G.: No, there is no relationship.

Nicotinic acid, or niacin, is a valuable vitamin found mostly in liver, meat, fish, yeast, and whole grain cereals.

Its complete absence in the diet is responsible for the disease pellagra. The nicotine in cigarettes is a poisonous substance found in all parts of the tobacco plant.

I saw a report of acid in my urine. Does this have any special meaning?

Mr. E.S., Va.

Dear Mr. S.: The acid and alkaline content of the urine may vary from day to day, even with people in excellent health.

Changes in diet and some medicines can readily alter the acidity of the urine.

Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — The decision by France to float its franc, which means its devaluation, has the appearance of a singular, isolated move, but it could set off a chain reaction of undesirable consequences.

It breaks faith with those countries in the European Economic Community which, for the sake of continental monetary stability and integration, had agreed to maintain a fixed ratio of relative currency values.

In stepping out of this mutual arrangement, France offers other EEC nations the rationale and maybe the incentive to do the same, threatening a series of competitive devaluations by nations seeking an economic advantage over their neighbors.

A devaluation, it should be remembered, might be embarrassing to some degree, but the negative aspect is overwhelmed by the ensuing trade advantage. It permits a nation to almost painlessly put its exports on sale at a discount.

France no doubt had this in mind when it decided to free its currency from the agreed upon anchor and let it drift where the market takes it, which most likely is down. It wants to correct an ominous trade deficit.

Earlier this month, the French finance minister, Valéry Giscard d'Estaing reported the country's trade balance, which had been expected to show a surplus of eight billion francs, would likely show instead a deficit of 18 billion.

Rural Development Report Not Specific

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four months and 18 days beyond the date required by law, the Agriculture Department has filed with Congress the government's goals for the development of rural United States.

Even so, the report lacks specific objectives. A five-page introduction says the department cannot and will not state specific goals for several years, until localities finish planning for themselves.

The document, which has 85 pages of census data following the introduction, has not yet been released publicly. It was sent to the Capitol on Friday.

A key sentence says: "We believe families and communities should have a maximum role in shaping their own futures and that the role of government is to support these choices, but to avoid interfering in the process."

The report — due last Sept. 1 — was held up until Congress passed departmental appropriations, which were signed into law Nov. 7. Then it circulated around the offices of Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz's top advisers for several weeks.

Rural development subcommittee members in both houses had pressed intermittently and unsuccessfully for the report in the interim.

Those recommendations and the introduction to the statistics indicate the potential for a congressional controversy this week when the report makes the rounds.

For example, most of the subcommittee members who have been active in overseeing the Rural Development Act want quantified goals — so many new homes and new jobs in so many years — and a nationwide plan imposed on states and localities.

The thoughts behind the report are basically those of Asst. Agriculture Secretary William Erwin; his deputy, Dr. James Costin, a young scientist from North Carolina, and former White House fellow; and Dr. Walter Guntharp, head of the new Rural Development Service.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES THOMAS ELLIS

Miss Marilyn Frances Jech Bride Of Charles T. Ellis

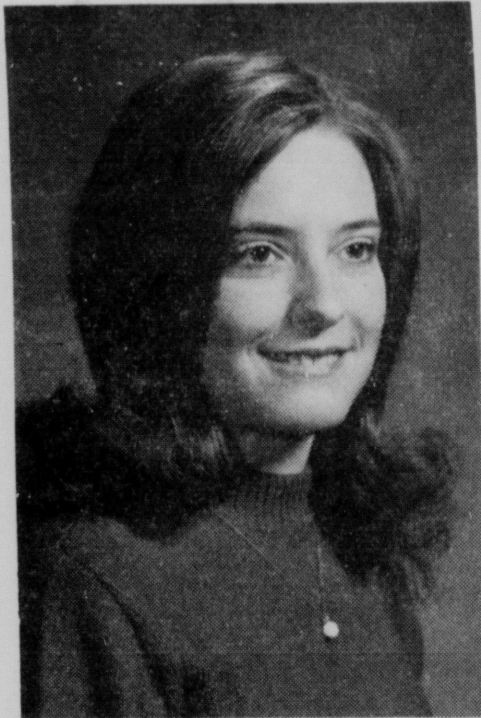

Miss Marilyn Frances Jech and Mr. Charles Thomas Ellis were united in holy matrimony 6 p.m. Dec. 29th, in the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, Brooklyn, Ohio.

The Rev. William B. Reinhardt officiated the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jech of Brooklyn and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Graham Ellis, also of Brooklyn.

For the Christmas oriented wedding the bride wore a street length dress of pastel green which she designed and made of lace belonging to the family for years. She carried a bouquet of white poinsettias trimmed with holly and pine.

The church was decorated with holly wreaths, a Christmas tree trimmed with chrismons and poinsettia plants on the altar.

Roundtown Secretaries Assn. Told Of Sound Transmission

Guest speaker for the January meeting of Roundtown Chapter, National Secretaries Assn. at Pickaway Arms was Bill Bauer of General Telephone.

Mr. Bauer, of the Division of Public Affairs at the Portsmouth office, gave a resume of the past and profile of the future of sound.

A complete history of the transmission of sound with the development of three medias, telephone, radio broadcasting and recording was complemented by a tape recorder giving the audible emphasis of Mr. Bauer's talk. The tape depicted sound, inflections, voices and music.

The first long distance telephone call was made in 1876 with a 16 mile span. As demands increased for better sounds, crystal sets came into being and then the gramophone, unique with a speaker.

During World War I development of sound transmission ceased. After the war three developments came about; ship to shore radio, sonar and the first transcontinental radio.

In the 1920's another development, the movies, appeared. At first there was only talking or only singing until 1927 when the two were combined in a movie.

During the depression, money being very short, radio entertainment at home came to the foreground.

Some taped highlights heard were: F.D.R.'s inaugural address, King of England's abdication speech, first juke box sounds and first telephone sounds of transmission.

The era of swing and the juke box came and then another war. During this time radar, radio and recording took a tremendous step forward. At the end of the war the next large advancement was television followed by hi-fidelity recordings with stereophonic sound.

On July 20th, 1969, John F. Kennedy predicted a man on the moon in 10 years but many developments were necessary. Thirty-five distinct sounds can be transferred to a computer and equipment can be minimized many times to be used in small areas.

The phase concerning the future was most interesting as the possibility of some of this generation seeing these transformations is not entirely without possibility.

After a short business meeting, conducted by Freda Collins following invocation by Maxine Andregg, members and guests proceeded to the General Telephone Co. for a tour conducted by Bill Anderson. All facilities were made available for viewing with many questions answered for the secretaries.

Popularity Of Nixon Drops Again

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The Gallup Poll's approval rating for President Nixon again has dropped to his all-time low of 27 per cent.

The Gallup organization conducted the poll Jan. 4-7, shortly after the Internal Revenue Service announced it was re-auditing the President's recent tax returns.

Nixon's first 27 per cent approval rating in the poll came in late October, after he fired special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox. In a similar poll last month, his rating was 29 per cent.

In the latest poll, 1,504 adults were asked: "Do you approve or disapprove of the way Nixon is handling his job as President?"

Besides the 27 per cent approving, 63 per cent disapproved and 10 per cent expressed no opinion.

Gallup said a breakdown by party showed Republicans approved of Nixon's performance by 53 per cent. Only 11 per cent of Democrats and 26 per cent of independents polled said they approved.

Nixon's current rating is eight points below the lowest rating given the late President Lyndon B. Johnson, 35 per cent. The lowest rating for any president was the 23 per cent once given Harry S. Truman.

Gallup began conducting the approval polls during Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidency.

Church Blaze Being Probed

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Newport's Fire Inspection Bureau planned today to investigate the charred ruins of the sanctuary of the Full Gospel Assembly Church.

A fire of undetermined cause swept through the building Sunday. Authorities estimated damage in excess of $75,000.

It was the second major church fire in eight days. The 72-year-old Corpus Christi Church suffered considerable damage to its roof and sacristy.

Newport Assistant Fire Chief Tom Wald said the blaze apparently broke out behind the altar.

Senior Citizen Program Planned For Thursday

Members of Pickaway Senior Center will have their monthly all-day meeting and program Thursday in the Parish House of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Activities will begin at 10 a.m. with sewing and card playing. Mrs. Helen Pickens R.N. will be present to take blood pressures for all wishing the service. Sack lunches will be served at noon.

For the afternoon program, William Woodward an Independent Life underwriter and investment counselor, of Canal Winchester will be guest speaker. His topic is "Man's Pathway From Darkness To Light" explaining the history of the open flame lighting. For the past 25 years he has collected lights beginning with an open oil flame used for illumination.

Bev Conrad will demonstrate the making of ceramics and members will display those they have made.

Child Advancement Club Will Meet

DONNA JEAN SEYMOUR

Mr. and Mrs. Basil H. Seymour, Route 1, Laurelville announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna Jean, to Mark Lee Kempton. Mr. Kempton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Kempton of Laurelville.

The bride-elect is a 1969 graduate of Zane Trace High School and is employed as a machinist at Circleville Metal, Inc.

Her fiance is a 1970 graduate of Logan Elm High School and is employed as a machinist at Circleville Metal, Inc.

A June wedding is being planned.

Miss Adrienne Jech was matron of honor and Miss Bobbie Baillie was bridesmaid. They wore dresses of soft pink and carried pink poinsettias trimmed with pine. The attendants are nieces of Mrs. Ruth Hukill of Circleville.

Best man was Mr. Timothy Haley and ushers were Mr. Mike Holohinko and the bride's brother, Mr. William Ervin Jech.

Organist, Mr. Dale Hukill, cousin of the bride and son of Mrs. Ruth Hukill, played a program of music selected by the couple, preceding the ceremony. Selections included "A Christmas Medley," "Theme From Potemkin" by Nikolai Kryukov for the processional and "Joy To The World" as the recessional.

A reception at Michaud's Aloha Room in Cleveland followed the ceremony. Guests danced to the music of Ernie Cipra's band.

The bride and groom are students at Kent State University where they will reside until they graduate next year.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Scottsdale, Oil City and Franklin, Pa.; Normantown, W. Va. and Athens, Ohio.

Class Members, Families Hold Pot-Luck Supper

Young Adult Class of New Holland United Methodist Church held its monthly meeting Wednesday in the church basement. Present for fellowship and a pot-luck supper were 18 members and their children.

Mrs. Gary Kirk, newly installed president, began the business meeting with a poem titled "This Is Today." Mrs. Robert Bishop, past secretary, read a summary of the year's events.

A report of preparations for a weekend retreat scheduled for Feb. 9th-10th at Lancaster Campground was given by Mrs. Richard Somers. March 28th is the date selected by the class for a supper to honor senior members of the church.

Members voted to give a bakeless bake sale to help boost the treasury which is low due to extensive repair work on the stained glass windows of the church. Members also agreed to be available for preparing sale dinners in the future.

Don't throw away those large outer leaves of lettuce. Wash and dry them, then shred them fine. Use as a base for salads.

Here are some of their replies.

Shan Brown: It doesn't matter to me.

Carol Betts: It's all right, but I forget to turn my headlights off.

Sandi Chambers: I can think of better places to go in the dark.

Ginger Short: I don't like it. I get up and can't believe it's 8:00, so I'm always late.

Dawn Redman: I hate it.

Sheri Carter: When they turn the lights on in the bus, it hurts your eyes.

George Bauman: I like it; it makes it easier to sleep.

Janet Wolford: I believe it's a communist plot. One morning they aren't going to take us to school, they'll take us to a concentration camp. Jackie Jones told me so.

Cindy Myers: "It's scary!"

Don Grate: "I can dig it."

Darlene Schaal: "I think it's sort of neat."

Jean Bigham: "I don't like it, but the longer evenings are nice."

Student's Poems Are Published

Just think about having five poems published in 1974's Scholastic magazine! Well, it happened to Don Grate.

Rules stated Don was not permitted to submit any more than two hundred lines, and the same one could not be sent in twice.

Don has sent his poems to this magazine before, but this is the first time they were accepted. The five poems to be printed are "Beginnings," "There Is a Place," "The Old Man," "A Place," and "Colors."

He began writing poems in 1972, describing his poems as usually free verse. As to whether he will further his talents, he stated, "Presently, it's just a hobby. I don't know about the future."

Congratulations, Don, for the honor bestowed upon you, and keep writing those poems.

LE Reserves Tied For First In Mid-State

The 1973-74 Braves' Reserve Basketball team is doing a great job for Logan Elm this year. Coach Asa Bradbury heads up a talented group of young men.

Team members are: Jeff Reichelderfer, Doug Hildenbrand, Neil Overman, Steve Rawlins, Dave Dean, Randy Pontius, Tom Blum, Keith James, Bruce Morrison, Bobby Sargent, Scott Allen, Lonnie Maxson, and Manager, Greg Graves.

Besides being the champions of the Logan Elm Holiday Reserve Tournament, they have an outstanding season record of 9-2, with a Mid-State League Record of 5-2.

The Reserves, as of January 10th, were tied with three other teams that only had one loss in the league. Coach Bradbury has commented that those teams with one loss we have yet to play, so his team still has a good chance at the title. He has also stated that he feels this team is the best group he has worked with yet.

Everyone at LE knows that the Reserves can capture the MSL title if they want it badly enough, and we're sure they do. Best of Luck for the remainder of the season, Braves!

Jackie Jones GAA President

JACKIE JONES

The 1973-74 Girls Athletic Association president is Jackie Jones. So far this year GAA has been very busy with after school athletics. They've gone bowling and had a hayride.

Along with other sports attractions they are planning a Sweetheart Dance. It will be held Feb. 16 with the theme, "Just You and Me."

They are planning to sell nuttie buddies in the future.

Jackie thinks being president of GAA is lots of fun and responsibility and thinks the girls are great.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Even Up The Odds

DEAR ABBY: A mother wrote in complaining because her husband would never let their eight-year-old son win at Monopoly or chess, and you agreed that the father was right.

Let's put the shoe on the other foot. Years ago, I used to play dominoes with my father, who was then getting on in years and not as sharp as he used to be. I could have beaten him every time if I had wanted to, but I often let him beat me. I can still recall the look of pleasure on his face when he'd win.

You said a child should learn to accept defeat with grace and good sportsmanship until he develops the skill to win fairly and squarely. But in the meantime, the boy is apt to think of his father as a merciless "machine" that runs over him with all the grace of a bulldozer.

GOOD JUDGMENT (I HOPE)
DEAR JUDGMENT: Letting "Papa" win at dominoes isn't the same as letting Junior win. Children are not easily fooled, and it's more confidence shattering to suspect that Daddy is "letting" them win. But read on for a better solution.

DEAR ABBY: You missed the obvious answer to Mother who thought Father should let their eight-year-old win once in a while.

Let Dad play with a handicap! Handicaps are used by pros and amateurs to even the odds in all kinds of games.

Sure, the son needs to learn how to accept defeat with grace, but losing all the time is no fun, and it only teaches discouragement.

I've been playing games with my seven-year-old son for years and we both play to win because I take a handicap. As his skill increases, my handicap decreases.

Accept defeat gracefully, Abby, and tell Dad to even up the game by using this suggestion.

DOUG KINDSCHI:
SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

DEAR DOUG: You win! I sometimes need a greater handi-cap than I settle for. As in this instance.

DEAR ABBY: Every year for the past 16 years I have made Christmas dinner for "the family" at my home. I always have between 24 and 30, and I work very hard to make it nice.

My question: How long should I be expected to wait for late guests? My invitations read, "cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m."

This past Christmas a married niece and her husband arrived at 8 o'clock! (They are always anywhere from an hour to an hour and a half late.) The little ones were hungry and got restless, and the older ones drank too much, and my dinner was overcooked. Need I tell you how I felt?

Please answer this in your column as I am sure other hostesses have the same problem.

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Start serving when you planned to. Guests will arrive on time if they know that the hostess will not wait for anyone. Your guests have trained you to wait for them. It's time you trained THEM to be on time!

DEAR ABBY: My 18-year-old sister has moved away from home and is sharing an apartment with another girl. If she decides to get married, is it my parents' responsibility to pay for the wedding?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Only if they want it.

Pregnancy Rules Voided By Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today struck down rules that force pregnant school teachers off the job regardless of their individual ability to continue work.

The 7 to 2 decision represented a victory for advocates of equal rights for women.

The pregnancy case involved rules from school systems in Ohio and Virginia which forced pregnant school teachers to leave the classroom at the fourth and fifth months of their pregnancy, respectively.

Expect Full Skylab Trip

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Skylab 3 astronauts may be able to complete a full 84-day mission even if a troublesome gyroscope fails, mission control says.

The space station's stabilizing device has exhibited a high rate of fluctuations — seven in two days. And the space agency says the chance of its failing has increased.

Nine days ago, space agency officials said Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson might have to come home within five or six days of such a failure for safety reasons.

But flight director Milton Windler said on Sunday that only 18 days remain in the planned 12-week mission and that enough backup control gas is aboard to keep the station stable for that long if nothing else goes wrong.

He said the astronauts would have to eliminate most solar astronomy and earth resources experiments because they require gas-using maneuvers of the station.

Mrs. Byers Is Featured Teacher

Mrs. Sue Byers is the featured teacher this week. She resides in Chillicothe and thinks that driving to school when it's dark makes it more difficult than usual.

Her opinion of Logan Elm is, "It's interesting"; but when asked what's wrong with it she replied, "Needs more money."

Bowling, sewing and movies are her hobbies and her likes are snow days, spring rains, and the color yellow.

Her plans for the future are to travel, buy a house and, we hope, teach at Logan Elm.

State Taxation Change Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's system of taxation penalizes property owners who want to make improvements and he wants to do something about it, says Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland.

The 30-year-old college instructor is pushing for passage this year of his bill providing a tax break for improvements of homes, apartment buildings and condominiums.

Van Meter claims his measure not only would permit a property owner to pay for improvements before he begins paying taxes on them, but also will serve as a stimulus for the state's economy.

"With the prospect of an economic slowdown, this could really stimulate Ohio's economy," the senator said, "When you stimulate the construction industry, it helps others like lumber, plasterers, glass manufacturers, and right on down the line."

Van Meter's bill provides that if a homeowner or the owner of a multidwelling building makes an improvement that would increase his valuation by $1,000, he could wait a year before starting to pay taxes on the improvement.

If the improvement were to cost $2,000, then the delay would be for two years, and so on, up to a maximum for five years for an improvement that increased the owner's valuation by $5,000 or more.

"Our tax system penalizes people for improving their property when we should be offering incentives to encourage people to do such projects," the senator said.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, whose Ways & Means Committee is considering Van Meter's bill, said he agrees with its concept. "I think the principle has a lot of merit," he said.

Van Meter's bill was the first of an expected batch of measures to ease property taxes in view of higher than anticipated revenues from the state income tax.

Ford Gets Zero In ADA Ratings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten House Democrats scored 100 per cent while Vice President Gerald R. Ford got a zero Sunday as the Americans for Democratic Action released its annual rating of voting records of the House of Representatives.

Ford was one of 47 House members the ADA said failed to vote for what it considered the liberal position on 25 votes last year.

A spokesman for Ford declined to comment on the rating.

Dawson Enters Contest

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — Columbiana County Engineer Burt Dawson Jr. announced today he will run for governor in the May Republican primary.

Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, introduced a bill to increase the income levels that determine reductions under homestead property tax provisions for Ohioans 65 and over. A property owner could take a reduction of 70 per cent if his annual income was $3,000 or less, compared to the present $2,000, under Mottl's bill.

State Taxation Change Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's system of taxation penalizes property owners who want to make improvements and he wants to do something about it, says Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland.

The 30-year-old college instructor is pushing for passage this year of his bill providing a tax break for improvements of homes, apartment buildings and condominiums.

Van Meter claims his measure not only would permit a property owner to pay for improvements before he begins paying taxes on them, but also will serve as a stimulus for the state's economy.

"With the prospect of an economic slowdown, this could really stimulate Ohio's economy," the senator said, "When you stimulate the construction industry, it helps others like lumber, plasterers, glass manufacturers, and right on down the line."

Van Meter's bill provides that if a homeowner or the owner of a multidwelling building makes an improvement that would increase his valuation by $1,000, he could wait a year before starting to pay taxes on the improvement.

If the improvement were to cost $2,000, then the delay would be for two years, and so on, up to a maximum of five years for an improvement that increased the owner's valuation by $5,000 or more.

"Our tax system penalizes people for improving their property when we should be offering incentives to encourage people to do such projects," the senator said.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, whose Ways & Means Committee is considering Van Meter's bill, said he agrees with its concept. "I think the principle has a lot of merit," he said.

Van Meter's bill was the first of an expected batch of measures to ease property taxes in view of higher than anticipated revenues from the state income tax.

Ford Gets Zero In ADA Ratings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten House Democrats scored 100 per cent while Vice President Gerald R. Ford got a zero Sunday as the Americans for Democratic Action released its annual rating of voting records of the House of Representatives.

Ford was one of 47 House members the ADA said failed to vote for what it considered the liberal position on 25 votes last year.

A spokesman for Ford declined to comment on the rating.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) If I file my Federal income tax return in January, will I get my refund any sooner?

(A) Yes. If you file in January and there are no mistakes on your return that might delay processing, you should get your refund in 4 to 5 weeks. If you file later, it may take up to 8 weeks.

(Q) When does your employer have to give you your W-2 form?

(A) Form W-2, which shows total wages paid and income and social security tax withheld during 1973, should be given to your employer on or before Jan. 31, 1974.

However, many employers distribute W-2 forms to their employees well in advance of this deadline for the convenience of those employees who are expecting a refund and want to file early.

(Q) How can I tell if I have to file a Federal income tax return?

(A) The filing requirement for Federal income tax returns depends upon the taxpayer's income, age and marital status.

A single individual must file a return if he had $2,050 or more gross income for the year. If he was 65 or older at year end, the requirement is $2,800. Any individual who may be claimed as the dependent of another taxpayer must file a return if he had gross income of $750 or more and received any unearned income during the year.

Married persons must file a tax return if the combined gross income of both spouses was $2,800 or more provided they file a joint return and were living together at the close of the tax year. The requirement is $3,550 if either husband or wife was 65 or older, and $4,300 if both were 65 or older.

However, the filing requirement is $750 for each if they file separate returns, or if they did not share the same household at the end of the year, or if another taxpayer is entitled to claim an exemption for either the husband or the wife.

If you were self-employed, you must file a return if you had net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more.

(Q) On last year's return, I didn't check off $1 of my tax for the Presidential Election Campaign Fund. But I plan to do so this year. Can I go back and check off a tax dollar for 1972?

(A) Yes. On the 1973 Federal income tax return, you can designate $1 ($2 if married filing jointly) of your 1972 tax for the Presidential Election Campaign Fund if you did not check off last year. And, of course, you can also check off $1 (or $2 on a joint return) of your 1973 tax for the fund.

(Q) If I designate $1 of my tax for the Presidential Election Campaign Fund, will it reduce any refund I have coming?

(A) No. Completing the checkoff will not change any of the figures on your tax return. The tax due IRS or the tax refund the IRS owes you will not be changed.

(Q) I had over $500 in medical expenses for 1973. Is this amount tax deductible?

(A) A portion of your medical expenses may be deductible, depending upon how much your adjusted gross income is.

In general, if you itemize, medical expenses are deductible to the extent they exceed three percent of your adjusted gross income. However, one half of the medical insurance premiums you paid in 1973 up to $150 is deductible without regard to the three percent limitation. The balance is deductible as a medical expense subject to the three percent limitation. Your expenditures for medicines and drugs may be included in medical expenses only to the extent they exceed one percent of your adjusted gross income.

(Q) Can I call the IRS toll free for answers to my tax questions?

(A) Yes. To Call IRS toll free for answers to your Federal tax questions, use the numbers listed in your Form 1040 or Form 1040A instructions.

Control Board OKs Funds For Lottery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republicans on the state Controlling Board voted Monday against loaning $2 million to the state Lottery Commission, but the measure passed, 4-3. But an act of the General Assembly called for the money to be given within 30 days after the lottery commission held its first meeting Dec. 5.

"We're already in violation of our own mandate," noted Rep. Frederick Young, R-38 Dayton.

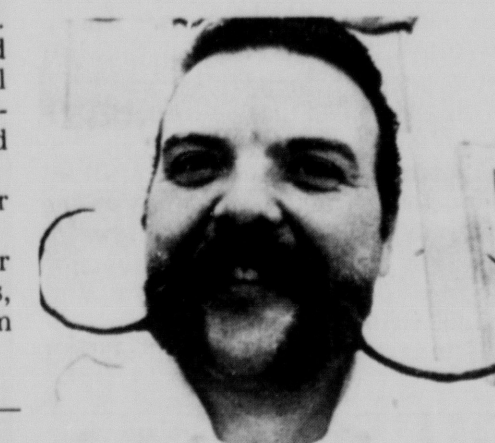

"That's not the first time," countered Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville.

In other action during the three-hour session, the board released overtime pay for highway patrolmen on duty at the Dec. 5-8 truck blockade and approved transfer of $2.1 million from instructional grants toward a pay increase for civil service employees at state universities.

Sens. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, and Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, joined Young in voting against the full $2 million lottery loan request.

A spokesman from state Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson's office said the $2 million would be used for initial expenses, such as renting a building and hiring a staff. The full amount is to be returned to the state's general fund after the first $2 million comes in from lottery ticket sales.

The first lottery ticket is not expected to be sold before August. Maloney said he doubted if it would be sold that soon.

Pre-Sentence Reports Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Dayton lawmaker is doing some lobbying in the Senate for action on his House proposal to require pre-sentence reports on convicted felons.

Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-34 Dayton, got the bill through the House, 53-40, early this month after surviving a floor fight that almost sent it back to committee.

One main objection was that the bill, even if meritorious, would be another financial burden imposed by the state on the counties with no way of paying for it.

"Here we go again," complained Rep. James Thorpe, R-50 Alliance, "telling the counties they have to do something with money they don't have. It's wrong, even if this is a good idea, and I'm not so sure it isn't."

Orlett's noted that many courts in the state already are using pre-sentence reports, and contended the effects would not be widespread.

He said "I believe such reports will permit better rehabilitation of offenders by carefully matching them with the programs and facilities that are available," Orlett said.

Under the bill, the reports would have to contain information relating to the circumstances of the crime, the defendant's history, possible rehabilitation resources available to the defendant, and physical and mental examinations of the defendant.

Orlett said all such reports would be confidential, available only to the sentencing court, or later, to an appellate court, the prosecuting attorney and defense counsel, and the department or institution to which the defendant is committed.

To provide time for preparation of the report, courts would be authorized to commit the defendant up to 60 days while the information is being gathered. That time would be credited against any sentence later imposed.

The 40-year-old Dayton Democrat said the legislation allows counties to enter into contracts with the Ohio Department of Corrections to provide investigations and the actual pre-sentence reports.

"The state corrections system is working hard to provide effective rehabilitation programs for offenders.

This legislation is aimed at helping the corrections system do an even better job," he said.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) If I file my Federal income tax return in January, will I get my refund any sooner?

(A) Yes. If you file in January and there are no mistakes on your return that might delay processing, you should get your refund in 4 to 5 weeks. If you file later, it may take up to 8 weeks.

(Q) When does your employer have to give you your W-2 form?

(A) Form W-2, which shows total wages paid and income and social security tax withheld during 1973, should be given to your employer on or before Jan. 31, 1974.

However, many employers distribute W-2 forms to their employees well in advance of this deadline for the convenience of those employees who are expecting a refund and want to file early.

(Q) How can I tell if I have to file a Federal income tax return?

(A) The filing requirement for Federal income tax returns depends upon the taxpayer's income, age and marital status.

A single individual must file a return if he had $2,050 or more gross income for the year. If he was 65 or older at year end, the requirement is $2,800. financial burden imposed by the state on the counties with no way of paying for it.

"Here we go again," complained Rep. James Thorpe, R-50 Alliance, "telling the counties they have to do something with money they don't have. It's wrong, even if this is a good idea, and I'm not so sure it isn't."

Orlett's noted that many courts in the state already are using pre-sentence reports, and contended the effects would not be widespread.

He said "I believe such reports will permit better rehabilitation of offenders by carefully matching them with the programs and facilities that are available," Orlett said.

Under the bill, the reports would have to contain information relating to the circumstances of the crime, the defendant's history, possible rehabilitation resources available to the defendant, and physical and mental examinations of the defendant.

Orlett said all such reports would be confidential, available only to the sentencing court, or later, to an appellate court, the prosecuting attorney and defense counsel, and the department or institution to which the defendant is committed.

To provide time for preparation of the report, courts would be authorized to commit the defendant up to 60 days while the information is being gathered. That time would be credited against any sentence later imposed.

The 40-year-old Dayton Democrat said the legislation allows counties to enter into contracts with the Ohio Department of Corrections to provide investigations and the actual pre-sentence reports.

"The state corrections system is working hard to provide effective rehabilitation programs for offenders."

NO COMMENT—Carrying his sled, young J. Paul Getty III turns away after spotting newsmen on the slopes of Innsbruck, Austria. Newsmen were seeking his reaction to the arrest of three men charged by Italian authorities with Getty's kidnapping. A reported $2.7 million ransom was paid for the release of the 17-year-old grandson of U.S. oil billionaire J. Paul Getty.

Nation's Crime Syndicates Disrupted By Prosecutions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's crime syndicates are suffering from "internal disarray" because more and more of their bosses are behind bars, says the head of the Justice Department's organized crime section. But even in prison, some underworld bosses continue to influence the illegal operations they ruled on the outside and most imprisoned gangsters return to professional crime after their release, William S. Lynch said in an interview.

"There are more of the bosses who have been reached by prosecutive efforts. The situation in some parts of the country is pretty clearly indicative that they have been hurt by prosecution," he said. "There is internal disarray in some of its structures across the country."

He singled out New England, the Midwest, New York and to some extent the Miami area as regions where the syndicates have experienced "organizational disruption" as a result of the

Cambodian Push Red Insurgents From Pocket

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Government infantry and armor penetrated an insurgent pocket northwest of Phnom Penh today, but most of the estimated 2,000 Khmer Rouge had withdrawn to the west during the night, field reports said.

More than 5,000 government soldiers, backed by armored personnel carriers and air strikes, drove from two directions into the boomerang-shaped area about eight miles northwest of the city.

Resistance was reported light. But aggressive government action in the past few days inflicted heavy casualties on the insurgents.

An Associated Press newsman who toured the battlefield in an armored vehicle said bodies of Khmer Rouge soldiers were scattered over the area and Cambodian army jeeps were hauling off captured weapons.

Winter Back In Mid-U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter returned to a broad stretch of the midcontinent today, producing freezing rain and snow in Kansas and Iowa and bringing travel advisories for snow eastward to the Great Lakes.

A heavy-snow warning was posted for the Colorado Rockies and northeastern Colorado.

Rain soaked parts of New England. Brunswick, Maine, had more than an inch overnight.

Fog slowed traffic in the Tampa, Fla., area and along parts of the Gulf Coast.

Gilligan Good Psychiatric Aide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan was rated a "damn good" psychiatric aide trainee Monday after working 1½ hours with two mentally retarded youngsters at Orient State Institute.

Dr. George Jurcinsin, an institute consultant from Chillicothe, made the appraisal of Gilligan and added, "He relates to the kids and the kids relate to him. That's important."

Jurcinsin said it didn't matter to Jimmy Long, 11, of Lancaster, and Dexter Spencer, 16, of Cincinnati, that Gilligan was inexperienced.

Gilligan donned a knee-length white coat and worked in a ward to observe the second anniversary of a program to humanize life for Ohio's 23,000 mental patients.

Dr. Albert Soforenko, institute administrator, suggested the trainee idea to the governor.

Soforenko said, "Gilligan constantly impressed me. He really felt at ease. He didn't give the average first reaction on seeing mentally retarded people."

Gilligan began his training by lifting the 48-pound Jimmy from his special $800 wheelchair onto an exercise table. Jimmy's blue eyes focused on the governor, and Gilligan said, "There's nothing much to look at this way."

Gilligan moved the boy's arms and fingers and remarked to nurse Bobbie Brysacz, "He has a pretty good grip." Jimmy's small hand gently squeezed the index finger of the chief executive.

Gilligan and Jimmy played with a peg board, shoveled sand in a large box and visited the 24-bed dormitory where the youngster sleeps.

The governor also worked with Dexter, who has no use of his arms or legs and is a deaf mute. Dexter wore a specially made head harness that had a steel pointer attached.

Gilligan helped the youth punch O-H-I-O on an electric typewriter.

Gilligan said to the smiling youngster, "After all that work on the typewriter, you should be hungry."

In the cafeteria, the governor spooned potatoes, cole slaw and ground weiner to Dexter.

"I never have had pulverized weiners," Gilligan remarked. "I hope they're good."

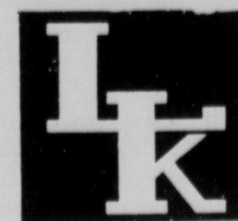

Gilligan concluded his duty as a trainee with the feeding of Dexter.

"Two years ago this was a pigsty," he said. "Now they are eating family style. It's an indication of how much can be done at a cost of a nickel a week to the taxpayers."

He added, "We have made remarkable progress, but we've got a long way to go. At least we have turned it around and are going in the right direction."

Dr. Kenneth Gaver, director of the Ohio Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, said the state has spent $9.6 million in the last two years to replace old furniture, add curtains, construct partitions for additional privacy and provide more training to staff.

He said more than $900,000 has been spent on Orient, the state's largest mental institution with 2,250 residents. Gaver was at Orient and worked in a different ward than the governor.

Teays Valley 5th In High School Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Canton McKinley continues to look as if 1974 is the year the Bulldogs shatter their Ohio high school basketball tournament hex.

Although they've drawn nothing but blanks at winning state tournament titles, the Bulldogs reached another Associated Press ratings milestone Monday.

McKinley, 12-0 this season, became the first school in either football or basketball ever to earn more than 300 points from Ohio sports writers and broadcasters.

The Canton power piled up 306 points, a whopping 162 ahead of Class AAA runnerup Kettering Alter, 12-0.

The Bulldogs have led the big school ratings all three weeks of the 1974 AP poll.

The Canton power piled up 306 points, a whopping 162 ahead of Class AAA runnerup Kettering Alter, 12-0. The Bulldogs have led the big school ratings all three weeks of the 1974 AP poll.

The situation is far less stable in Class AA and A.

Akron Manchester led the Class AA ratings the first week, but yielded that honor this week to another unbeaten Wellsville. Wellsville, 11-0, had 274 points to 267 for Manchester, 13-0 and second this time.

In Class A, Mansfield St. Peter's, which led the first week, regained the top spot from Sebring, the pacesetter last week. St. Peter's had 258 points while Sebring, 10-1, collected 237.

McKinley, in its luckless tournament bids, has reached the regionals or Sweet Sixteen 22 times, the semifinals 13 times and the championship contest on six occasions.

Boardman, upset by Youngstown Mooney, slipped one notch to third place in Class AAA. Springfield North was fourth, Chillicothe fifth, Dayton Dunbar and Cincinnati Elder tied for sixth, Warren Western Reserve eighth, Cincinnati LaSalle ninth and Hamilton Taft a new face in tenth.

In Class AA, Millersburg West

Holmes jumped one spot to third, followed by Newark Licking Valley, Ashville Teays Valley, Canton Lehman, Columbus Mohawk, Waverly, Genoa and Louisville Aquinas.

Genoa, off to an 11-1 start, was the lone newcomer in the Class AA top ten.

In Class A, Canal Winchester, 10-1, joined the elite, replacing Peebles in the No. 10 spot.

Lorain Clearview maintained the third position and then, in order, came Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South, Sidney Lehman, Cleveland Lutheran East, Pittsburg Franklin-Monroe, Marion Pleasant and Greenwich South Central.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Here's

how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school basketball teams this week for The Associated Press (10 points for first to 1 point for tenth):

CLASS AAA

1. Canton McKinley, 12-0, 306 points.

Notre Dame Ranked 1st In Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — "We're very pleased to be ranked No. 1. It's terrific," said Notre Dame basketball Coach Digger Phelps Monday night. "But we can't afford to relax. We've still got 16 games ahead of us."

Phelps and the Fighting Irish, fresh from Saturday's thrilling, come-from-behind 71-70 decision over mighty UCLA, claimed the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press weekly poll today. It marked the first time in three years that the Bruins have been knocked out of the No. 1 position.

Whether or not the Irish can stay on top will depend largely on Saturday night's rematch against UCLA in Los Angeles. Meanwhile, Phelps has been trying to keep his club from looking ahead. Notre Dame plays at Kansas tonight and returns home to play St. Francis, Pa., Thursday night.

The Irish, 10-0, collected 36 first-place votes and 990 total points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters.

UCLA, which saw its record 88-game winning streak snapped, picked up 15 first-place votes and 944 points. The last time the Bruins dropped out of first place in the AP poll was Jan. 26th, 1971, following an 89-82 loss to Notre Dame. Marquette took over the No. 1 position that week, lost it to UCLA two weeks later, and it's been the Bruins ever since.

North Carolina State, 11-1, held onto the No. 3 position with victories over Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina Charlotte. The Wolfpack picked up 782 points.

North Carolina, 12-1 after beating Wake Forest and Duke, moved up from fifth to fourth place with 651 points. Maryland, with wins over Navy and Fordham to go along with its loss to North Carolina State, dropped one place to fifth with 649 points and a 10-2 record.

Marquette, 14-1, held onto the No. 6 spot after dumping Butler and Fordham. Vanderbilt, 12-1, moved up one step to seventh after whipping Georgia and Auburn. Providence, 13-2, dropped one notch to No. 8 despite victories over Massachusetts and St. Joseph's, Pa.

Alabama, 10-2, advanced one place to ninth after topping LSU and Mississippi State. Long Beach State, 12-1, took the week off and fell from ninth to tenth.

Rounding out the top twenty teams were Indiana, 11th; Southern California, 12th; South Carolina, 13th; Louisville, 14th; Michigan, 15th; Pittsburgh, 16th; Wisconsin, 17th; Centenary, 18th; New Mexico, 19th; and Arizona State, 20th.

The Top Twenty, with firstplace votes in parentheses, season records through games of last Saturday and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Cincy Bearcats Flex Muscles

By NORM CLARKE

Associated Press Writer

The Cincinnati Bearcats, poised for a push toward a postseason tournament bid, flexed their muscles Monday night with a 109-73 romp.

"But there aren't going to be any more fun games like that from now on," cautioned Coach Gale Catlett.

Cincinnati overwhelmed Northeastern Illinois in a tuneup for what Catlett sees as a pivotal test for the Bearcats.

Cincinnati, 12-4, travels to Drake, 10-5, Wednesday night and Catlett said: "We owe them something. They were the only team to beat us at home last year."

More important, he added, "we are in a position to make a run for a tourney bid and a victory over Drake could get us that momentum. That's what we're pointing for."

Elsewhere, Akron won its 10th game in 13 starts with a 77-68 victory over Buffalo (N.Y.) State, Wright State cruised past Cleveland State 69-45 and Urbana rallied to down Bluffton 82-73.

Cincinnati sprinted to a 14-0 lead against Northeastern Illinois and held a commanding 52-30 halftime spread. The lead swelled to 41 points in the second half as the Bearcats established a school record for most field goals in a game with 51.

Lloyd Batts' 24 points helped the senior guard move past teammate Derrek Dickey as No. 5 on Cincinnati's all-time scoring list.

Wright State's Bill Fogt got in the scoring act too. His 21 points pushed the senior standout passed the 1,000 career mark—an unprecedented plateau at the school.

The victory lifted Wright State to 6-0. CSU fell to 5-11.

Akron, now 10-3, pulled away from a slim 39-34 halftime lead to a 20-point advantage before subs mopped up.

Akron, now 10-3, had to overcome a 12-2 deficit before taking control 39-34 at halftime. The Zips surged to a 20-point lead in the second half. Nate Barnett's 21 points led Akron.

Buffalo State dropped to 2-10.

Lynn Johnson's 23 points helped Urbana stage a second-half thrust to overtake Bluffton, which led 39-36 at halftime.

Wottle Slates Appearance

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Knights of Columbus Track Meet will feature Olympic Gold Medal winner Dave Wottle in the mile run.

It may be Wottle's last appearance as an amateur. Wottle, 23, is a graduate student at Bowling Green State University. He won the gold medal for his performance in the 800-meter run in Munich in 1972.

The K of C meet is scheduled for Feb. 2.

Brothers Mike and Dave Duda of Mt. Clemens, Mich., are on Michigan State's varsity football team. An older brother, Paul Duda, played at Colorado State.

Logan Elm Hosts Mid State Leader

Logan Elm clashes with Mid State League leader Canal Winchester tonight in Spangler Memorial Gymnasium to touch off local basketball action for the week.

Friday the Braves travel to Lancaster Fisher, Teays Valley hosts Marysville and Westfall hosts Berne Union. Saturday the only basketball action involving area schools finds the Mustangs of Westfall at Liberty Union.

The battle at Logan Elm tonight is a "must situation" for the Indians of Winchester who must win to stay ahead of Millersport. The Indians are unbeaten in the league while the Lakers' only loss has been at the hands of CW.

The Braves have a 3-5 league record and a 6-6 overall mark.

Teays Valley, fifth ranked class AA high school team in the state in the Associated Press poll of sportswriters released today, may well be without the services of Jeff Anderson the Saturday game with the Monarchs. Anderson has blood poisoning of the foot and leg. Starters for the tilt will be Craig Pontius and Terry Lambert at guards, Jim Logsdon at center, Jay Brinker and Jerry Collins at forward.

Marysville has a 3-6 Metropolitan League schedule and a 5-6 overall mark. The Vikings are undefeated. "Marysville likes to control the ball and make you play their game," Hoover reports.

They set up, run patterns on offense and alternate zone and man-to-man defense? They are a blanced scoring team.

Westfall grad Ray Mowery will bring his Berne Union team back to the gym where he starred during his high school career. Berne Union has Mid State scoring leader Clark Dupler. The Rockets use a pressure man to man defense and a patterned offense.

And on Saturday the Mustangs will have to contend with tall Liberty

Union, another Mid State team. Westfall has a 2-9.

Coach Mike Eckle reports his starting lineup will depend on how Jay Clark and Dough Williams recover from injuries.

See Split In Colts Management

BALTIMORE (AP) — Howard Schnellenberger, who just 10 days ago learned he would be back next year as coach of the Baltimore Colts, was at odds Monday with general manager Joe Thomas over the treatment of three Colts' assistant coaches.

After Thomas fired two Baltimore aides Monday and said he also would have ousted Dick Voris had he not quit last week, Schnellenberger stepped out of character and offered a divergent view.

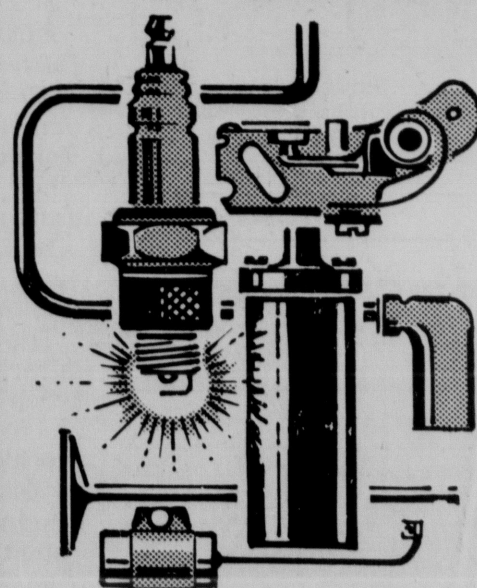

"It was my idea, and he (Howard) agreed with me," Thomas said in announcing that the contracts of defensive aides Ray Callahan and Bobby Franklin would not be renewed next season.

"I didn't agree," Schnellenberger said, indicating he didn't have an option. "Joe did it on his own. I hired them, and I assumed that I'd fire them if I were displeased with them. I told Joe I thought they had done a good job."

Schnellenberger described Thomas' decision as an "ultimatum" which had caused him to reevaluate his own future with the Colts.

"I decided that 47 players worked like hell to develop a team last year," Schnellenberger said, "and that if I didn't stay, a lot of hard work would go down the drain. I didn't want to let the other three coaches down, either."

Teays Valley 5th In High School Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Canton McKinley continues to look as if 1974 is the year the Bulldogs shatter their Ohio high school basketball tournament hex.

Although they've drawn nothing but blanks at winning state tournament titles, the Bulldogs reached another Associated Press ratings milestone Monday.

McKinley, 12-0 this season, became the first school in either football or basketball ever to earn more than 300 points from Ohio sports writers and broadcasters.

The Canton power piled up 306 points, a whopping 162 ahead of Class AAA runnerup Kettering Alter, 12-0.

The Bulldogs have led the big school ratings all three weeks of the 1974 AP poll.

The Canton power piled up 306 points, a whopping 162 ahead of Class AAA runnerup Kettering Alter, 12-0. The Bulldogs have led the big school ratings all three weeks of the 1974 AP poll.

The situation is far less stable in Class AA and A.

Akron Manchester led the Class AA ratings the first week, but yielded that honor this week to another unbeaten. Wellsville, 11-0, had 274 points to 267 for Manchester, 13-0 and second this time.

In Class A, Mansfield St. Peter's,

which led the first week, regained the top spot from Sebring, the pacesetter last week. St. Peter's had 258 points while Sebring, 10-1, collected 237.

McKinley, in its luckless tournament bids, has reached the regionals or Sweet Sixteen 22 times, the semifinals 13 times and the championship contest on six occasions.

Boardman, upset by Youngstown Mooney, slipped one notch to third place in Class AAA. Springfield North was fourth, Chillicothe fifth, Dayton Dunbar and Cincinnati Elder tied for sixth, Warren Western Reserve eighth, Cincinnati LaSalle ninth and Hamilton Taft a new face in tenth.

In Class AA, Millersburg West

Holmes jumped one spot to third, followed by Newark Licking Valley. Ashville Teays Valley, Canton Lehman, Columbus Mohawk, Waverly, Genoa and Louisville Aquinas.

Genoa, off to an 11-1 start, was the lone newcomer in the Class AA top ten. In Class A, Canal Winchester, 10-1, joined the elite, replacing Peebles in the No. 10 spot.

Lorain Clearview maintained the third position and then, in order, came Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South, Sidney Lehman, Cleveland Lutheran East, Pitsburg Franklin-Monroe, Marion Pleasant and Greenwich South Central.

Notre Dame Ranked 1st In Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — "We're very pleased to be ranked No. 1. It's terrific," said Notre Dame basketball Coach Digger Phelps Monday night. "But we can't afford to relax. We've still got 16 games ahead of us."

Phelps and the Fighting Irish, fresh from Saturday's thrilling, come-from-behind 71-70 decision over mighty UCLA, claimed the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press weekly poll today. It marked the first time in three years that the Bruins have been knocked out of the No. 1 position.

Whether or not the Irish can stay on top will depend largely on Saturday night's rematch against UCLA in Los Angeles. Meanwhile, Phelps has been trying to keep his club from looking ahead. Notre Dame plays at Kansas tonight and returns home to play St. Francis, Pa., Thursday night.

The Irish, 10-0, collected 36 first-place votes and 990 total points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters.

UCLA, which saw its record 88-game winning streak snapped, picked up 15 first-place votes and 944 points. The last time the Bruins dropped out of first place in the AP poll was Jan. 26th, 1971, following an 89-82 loss to Notre Dame. Marquette took over the No. 1 position that week, lost it to UCLA two weeks later, and it's been the Bruins ever since.

North Carolina State, 11-1, held onto the No. 3 position with victories over Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina Charlotte. The Wolfpack picked up 782 points.

North Carolina, 12-1 after beating Wake Forest and Duke, moved up from fifth to fourth place with 651 points. Maryland, with wins over Navy and Fordham to go along with its loss to North Carolina State, dropped one place to fifth with 649 points and a 10-2 record. Marquette, 14-1, held onto the No. 6 spot after dumping Butler and Fordham. Vanderbilt, 12-1, moved up one step to seventh after whipping Georgia and Auburn. Providence, 13-2, dropped one notch to No. 8 despite victories over Massachusetts and St. Joseph's, Pa.

Alabama, 10-2, advanced one place to ninth after topping LSU and Mississippi State. Long Beach State, 12-1, took the week off and fell from ninth to tenth.

Rounding out the top twenty teams were Indiana, 11th; Southern California, 12th; South Carolina, 13th; Louisville, 14th; Michigan, 15th; Pittsburgh, 16th; Wisconsin, 17th; Centenary, 18th; New Mexico, 19th; and Arizona State, 20th. The Top Twenty, with firstplace votes in parentheses, season records through games of last Saturday and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Ball State Coach Ex-Cincinnati Star

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Only a handful among the 4,560 fans sitting in utter disbelief in Ball State University's Men's Gym the other night knew the real drama behind the scenes. Ball State whipped the University of Cincinnati, ranked 20th in the nation, 99-82.

The man working the miracle on the Ball State bench was Jim Holstein, a Cincinnati star in the 1950s who had sought the Cincinnati coaching job two years ago. Cincinnati selected Gale Catlett, an assistant coach from Kentucky.

Cincinnati had just fired Tay Baker, now coach at cross-town Xavier University.

Ironically, Ball State which had successfully courted Holstein away from St. Joseph in Indiana, was also dealing with Catlett.

"You know," said Ball State sports information director Earl Yestingmeier, "Gale Catlett was No. 2, our top choice after Jim Holstein."

"Listen," said Holstein, "I'd do anything in the world for the University of Cincinnati. I owe a lot to the university. It did a lot for me," said the Hamilton, Ohio native.

But Holstein said he was still incredulous about his interview with Cincinnati for the coaching job there.

"They asked me in," he said. "Bear in mind I already had been interviewed by three people at Ball State, the athletic director, the head of the physical education department and the administrator who was over both of them."

"I couldn't believe what I walked into at Cincinnati. There were 18 people in this room for the interview —

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Present planetary influences suggest that you keep standards and motivations on a high level, check impulses and avoid hasty action.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): An excellent day in which to demonstrate your ingenuity and progressiveness. Put your best efforts in all endeavors, but do not expect immediate returns.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your ability to weather "stormy" periods will be a great help now. You may run into some opposition, some unexpected situations, but eventual returns will be worth it.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You could do well now if you would make use of some of your latent talents and maintain a flexible attitude when faced with possible changes in pre-planned activities.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may not be able to accomplish ALL that you schedule, but with an optimistic attitude and sincere endeavor you can, nevertheless, give a distinguished performance.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A better day than you may think at first. Especially favored: The solution of difficult problems and organizational matters.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some procedures may have to be changed but, in general, you will attain the results you work for. Your keen wit could attract new friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Good planning, acquainting yourself with unfamiliar details and learning how to facilitate matters generally will keep this day in line.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Place obligations before desires, but do make time for recreation and relaxation. Understanding and cooperation with others will be your key to success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Here is a spot for you to outpoint those who are careless or do not reckon with contingencies—which the true Capricornian usually does.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): As with Aquarius, you, too, could profit through some new endeavor. Better-than-usual advantages.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an extraordinarily keen mind, are precise and meticulous and have a high potential for success and happiness. You have a tendency to be too voluble, however, and thus could alienate associates, so try to curb it. Be more tolerant with those who are not as gifted as yourself. The fields of education, diplomacy, sociology, finance and writing suit your many talents, and you could succeed in any of them.

POINTED LANDING—Southern California quarterback Pat Haden is upended at Pasadena as USC lost to Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

Brenneman Voice Of Reds

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Marty Brenneman, radio voice of the Virginia Squires for the past four years, has been named play-by-play announcer of the Cincinnati Reds, the National League club announced today.

A native of Virginia, Brenneman was selected over 200 applicants, including a number of veteran major league announcers, the Reds said.

Brenneman, 31, succeeds Al Michaels, who now heads the San Francisco Giants broadcasting team.

Forty-niners, bound West around Cape Horn, picked up alfalfa in Chile and took it with them as forage for their animals. By 1854 "Chilean clover" flourished in California and soon spread to other parts of the country.

Your Horoscope Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Present planetary influences suggest that you keep standards and motivations on a high level, check impulses and avoid hasty action.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): An excellent day in which to demonstrate your ingenuity and progressiveness. Put your best efforts in all endeavors, but do not expect immediate returns.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your ability to weather "stormy" periods will be a great help now. You may run into some opposition, some unexpected situations, but eventual returns will be worth it.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You could do well now if you would make use of some of your latent talents and maintain a flexible attitude when faced with possible changes in pre-planned activities.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You may not be able to accomplish ALL that you schedule, but with an optimistic attitude and sincere endeavor you can, nevertheless, give a distinguished performance.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A better day than you may think at first. Especially favored: The solution of difficult problems and organizational matters.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Some procedures may have to be changed but, in general, you will attain the results you work for. Your keen wit could attract new friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Good planning, acquainting yourself with unfamiliar details and learning how to facilitate matters generally will keep this day in line.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Place obligations before desires, but do make time for recreation and relaxation. Understanding and cooperation with others will be your key to success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Here is a spot for you to outpoint those who are careless or do not reckon with contingencies—which the true Capricornian usually does.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A day for astute thinking and equally wise follow-up. Try something different, if only as a hobby. "Little things" could bring you great happiness now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): As with Aquarius, you, too, could profit through some new endeavor. Better-than-usual advantages.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an extraordinarily keen mind, are precise and meticulous and have a high potential for success and happiness. You have a tendency to be too voluble, however, and thus could alienate associates, so try to curb it. Be more tolerant with those who are not as gifted as yourself. The fields of education, diplomacy, sociology, finance and writing suit your many talents, and you could succeed in any of them.

Brennaman Voice Of Reds

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Marty Brennaman, radio voice of the Virginia Squires for the past four years, has been named play-by-play announcer of the Cincinnati Reds, the National League club announced today.

A native of Virginia, Brennaman was selected over 200 applicants, including a number of veteran major league announcers, the Reds said.

Brennaman, 31, succeeds Al Michaels, who now heads the San Francisco Giants broadcasting team.

Forty-niners, bound West around Cape Horn, picked up alfalfa in Chile and took it with them as forage for their animals. By 1854 "Chilean clover" flourished in California and soon spread to other parts of the country.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — A local version of public TV's "Washington Week in Review" is afoot at KCET-TV in Los Angeles. But there's a major difference in the type of journalists appearing on the show.

All are working newspaper reporters who get out each day and inspect documents, grill assorted politicians, bureaucrats and other miscreants.

Columnists — which in Washington are generally defined as those who munch on what others report — aren't invited on KCET's "Los Angeles Collective News Review."

"I don't want columnists," says Taylor Hackford, who produces the half-hour, once-a-month show. "The nature of this show is going to be pretty much hard news reporting."

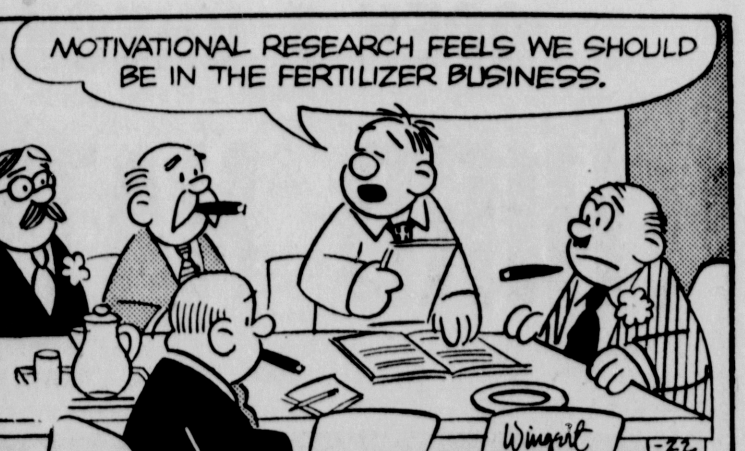

"And I find that I don't get a lot of hard news when I read columns."

He says he wants only journalism's front-line troops because "we're trying to get some perspective and long-range repercussions of stories they've reported, as well as some of the behind-the-scenes things they haven't written about in their articles."

On this month's show, the stories ranged from campaign contributions in California's gubernatorial race to an effort to recall a Los Angeles city councilman.

The four reporters discussing their stories were from the Los Angeles Times, the Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram, the Santa Ana Register and the Nor-

Preparations Underway For High Fever Follies

HIGH FEVER FOLLIES—Mrs. Nelson Stevens, (left), co-chairman of the High Fever Follies "74", is going over advertising plans with Mrs. James Edman, (center), and Mrs. Robert Hedges, (right). Not present for the picture is co-chairman Mrs. Robert Liggett. The Follies are scheduled for Mar. 28, 29 and 30.

Plans are being set in motion for the High Fever Follies "74", sponsored by the Berger Hospital General Guild. Co-chairmen for this year's production are Mrs. Nelson Stevens and Mrs. Robert Liggett.

The biennial event, scheduled for Mar. 28, 29 and 30, has been successful in the past netting over $28,000 for the benefit of Berger Hospital.

The support of the community and its merchants has been the key to making the Fever Follies so successful.

Mrs. James Edman and Mrs. Robert Hedges will begin a campaign Jan. 24 contacting local businessmen to help in the production.

The Berger Guild has again employed the Jerome H. Cargill Productions to help produce a musical show of professional quality. Cargill is a national theatrical company which deals exclusively with women's organizations in producing musicals for charity.

The directors are qualified professionals from television, movies and stage. Cargill productions will also furnish the costumes and musical score.

With future plans for additions to Berger Hospital, the Follies committee is hoping and stressing for strong community support.

Any Pickaway County resident interested in any phase of the production is encouraged to participate, whether it be behind the scenes or as a part of the program.

The director will arrive March 11 with the kick-off talent party scheduled for March 12.

Rehearsal will begin the day after the talent party.

Anyone interested in participating in High Fever Follies "74" should contact the general chairmen.

Oil Leasing Increase Set By Morton

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton wants to multiply offshore oil leasing to ten times its 1973 rate within the next few years.

Morton also said in an interview that his department would get more than $50 million for coal-production research in fiscal 1975 to start a rapid expansion of coal research.

Although his department has been overshadowed by the new Federal Energy Office, Morton said it was still Interior's "massive responsibility" to increase the nation's coal, oil and gas resources.

In 1973, Interior leased around one million acres of federal offshore areas for oil and gas development, and Morton had planned to increase the leasing rate to three million acres a year by 1978, a department spokesman said.

Now, Morton said in the interview, he expects the rate to reach that three-million-acre mark this year, then perhaps jump to five million in 1975 and soar to ten million acres per year "for a couple of years thereafter."

Morton also said that he wants to begin consideration of a joint U.S.-Canadian pipeline for natural gas from the Arctic, and he suggested he might invite himself along on a visit planned by energy chief William E. Simon to Canadian energy minister Donald McDonald.

Living Costs Jump Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — With fuel prices leading the way, consumer prices jumped sharply in December and closed out 1973 with the worst inflation record in 27 years, the government reported today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the Consumer Price Index rose by five-tenths of one per cent last month, seasonally adjusted. Although the rise was less than the eight-tenths of one per cent increase in each of the previous two months, it was still high by normal standards. Unadjusted, the increase was seven-tenths of one per cent, matching November's rise.

December's increase pushed consumer prices up 8.8 per cent for the year, the largest annual increase since the removal of World War II price controls.

With prices rising faster than income, the bureau reported that real spendable earnings — weekly after-taxes pay stripped of the effects of inflation — fell one-tenth of one per cent in December, the third consecutive monthly decline.

Over the past year, real spendable earnings declined three per cent, with about half of the drop caused by inflation and half by tax increases.

Marathon Plans Big Expenditures

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Marathon Oil Co. plans to spend $265 million this year on capital expenditure and exploration costs, according to J.C. Donnell II, board chairman.

"We intend to aggressively pursue all avenues open to us in the search for new oil and gas reserves, especially in North America," Donnell said Monday.

He said about $155 of the total will be devoted to lease acquisition, exploration, drilling and production activities.

Ex-Guardsman Tells Of Danger

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A former member of the Ohio National Guard said he told a federal grand jury Monday that guardsmen were in danger when they confronted students during an antiwar demonstration at Kent State University May 4, 1970.

Charles W. Dodson of North Madison told newsmen he testified that the students were throwing rocks and that while the guardsmen were "not in danger of being killed, there was danger of bodily harm."

He said he was not hit by the rocks, "but I dodged a few of them."

Four students were killed and nine wounded by National Guard gunfire, which ended four days of demonstrations by Kent State students protesting U.S. military involvement in Cambodia.

Dodson, 32, was a specialist fourth class in Company A, 145th Infantry, one of the units from which the shots came, but he said he wasn't among the guardsmen who fired.

He also said he testified that he didn't hear an order to fire but told newsmen, "That doesn't mean there wasn't one." He said he was on the end of the line of guardsmen and that "I heard the order to cease fire."

Dodson said he was one of the guardsmen who detained Terrence Norman, an undercover agent on the campus, after Norman turned his revolver over to campus police following the shooting.

There have been reports that Norman fired his gun, but Norman and police have denied that the weapon was fired. Dodson said he heard no comment from Norman one way or the other.

Norman was questioned by the 23-member grand jury early in its investigation but refused to discuss his appearance with newsmen.

Dodson, who sells real estate and drives a truck, said he left the National Guard about a month after the Kent State incident.

He was one of about six men who testified Monday as the jury began its fourth week of the probe. The others refused to identify themselves or discuss their appearances. An attorney said they were guardsmen and confirmed that they testified but declined to give their names to newsmen.

The National Guard was sent to Kent State by then-Gov. James A. Rhodes after a Reserve Officer Training Corps building on the campus was burned during a nighttime demonstration two days before the fatal confrontation.

A special Ohio grand jury called by Rhodes to investigate the shooting exonerated the guardsmen, finding that they had reason to believe their lives were in danger.

The 25 indictments the jury returned were dismissed later and a federal judge ordered the jury's report destroyed.

A presidential commission which investigated the shootings described them as "unnecessary, unwarranted and inexcusable."

The Federal Bureau of Investigation never made public a lengthy report on its probe of the incident.

The Justice Department ordered the federal grand jury probe late last year and the jury was convened Dec. 18. Department attorneys directing the investigation have declined to identify the witnesses called to discuss other aspects of the jury's proceedings.

Juvenile Court Hears 15 Cases During Week

Eleven delinquent youths and four traffic offenders were prosecuted in Pickaway County Juvenile Court this past week by the county prosecutor's office. A case involving a neglected child completed the week's activities.

Judge Guy G. Cline declared a 17-year-old Circleville boy unruly after hearing a case charging the boy with consuming alcoholic beverages. He fined the youth $50 and suspended $35 of the fine and placed him on probation until his 18th birthday.

Charges of leaving home and school truancy were heard against a 17-year-old Lockbourne girl. She had left home to attend school but did not attend school. The court suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission and placed her on probation for three years.

A 16-year-old Orient boy was declared delinquent by the court for tampering with a motor vehicle. The boy pleaded guilty to the charge filed by Sheriff's Deputy Danny Dewey and the court ordered a pre-sentence report to be completed.

Imposition of sentence was stayed in the case of a violation of probation charge filed against a 16-year-old Circleville boy. The boy was found guilty to using alcoholic beverages and being in places where they are sold. The court declared him delinquent and is awaiting the boy's entry into the armed forces to complete the case.

A 14-year-old Route 1, Circleville girl was found guilty of truancy and was ordered by the court to complete 100 hours of community work and placed on probation for a period of three years.

Another Route 1, Circleville girl, age 17, was also ordered to complete 100 hours of community work and placed on probation for three years for truancy.

Probation was released against a 19-year-old Route 5, Circleville girl who will graduate from high school in June. The original charge had been truancy.

An 18-year-old boy was released from detention after posting $2,500 on each of two charges. The boy will stand trial for breaking and entering and grand larceny.

Sixty days in detention was ordered for a 16-year-old Circleville boy convicted of violation of probation and school truancy. A sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission was suspended.

Another sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission was suspended in the case of a 17-year-old Circleville boy who pleaded guilty to forgery. The court accepted the plea on Dec. 18 and after considering the pre-sentence report, placed the boy on probation for three years.

Sheriff's Deputy Donald Thompson filed charges of consuming alcoholic beverages and becoming intoxicated against a 14-year-old Ashville girl. The girl was placed on probation for three years.

Joseph Edward Funk, 16, 360 E. Franklin St., appeared before Judge Cline on a charge transferred from Franklin County. The case was dismissed because the affidavit charged Funk with driving without a operator's license and the Court found he did have a valid operator's license at the time of his appearance.
